FRANK M. FULLER STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS AT UNIONTOWN HOME AND DEATH FOLLOWS

Secretary of Commonwealth Summoned While Working in Garden.

END COMES QUICKLY

Physicians Made Mighty Effort to Save Life of Cabinet Officer.

WAS POWER IN POLITICS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., July 10.—Frank M. Fuller, secretary of the commonwealth died suddenly here tonight. His death was caused by heart trouble and a stroke of paralysis.

About 8 o'clock last night Mr. Fuller was hoeing in his garden. His wife was talking with him. There was a scream as though he were suffering great pain. He clutched at his heart and toppled over into his wife's arms. Mr. Fuller did not regain consciousness and died at 10.40 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Fuller secured the services of Dr. John Fuller a brother of the secretary, and Dr. Charles H. Smith. The physicians worked constantly with their patient, but were unable to save his life. It is their opinion that death was caused by heart failure and a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Fuller is prostrated.

The news of the illness of Mr. Fuller spread rapidly throughout the town and caused great excitement. The entire 52 years of his life had been spent in Uniontown, where he was known to almost every resident. He had long been the Republican leader of Fayette county and took a prominent part in the public affairs of the southwestern end of the state. He was interested in many business enterprises in the county.

Had Been in Ill Health.

Mr. Fuller had not been enjoying the best of health for several months, but his condition was not considered serious. He had been able to attend to his duties as secretary of the commonwealth. There was a rumor in April he intended to resign because of ill health. He then said there was not the slightest foundation for the report.

The secretary of the commonwealth was born in Uniontown on April 7, 1853. He was educated in the public schools, Chambersburg academy and Lafayette college. He read law with Judge Nathaniel Ewing of Uniontown, and was admitted to practice in Fayette county in 1876. Mr. Fuller did not care for the law. He cared more for farming and politics. For upward of 30 years he had been active in the affairs of the Republican party in Fayette county, and for a considerable time had been the recognized leader of the county by the state organization.

Extensive Public Career.

Mr. Fuller had repeatedly held the offices of chairman and secretary of the Fayette county Republican committee. For about 17 years he had been a member of the state committee. He had frequently served as state delegate and had sat in several national Republican conventions. In 1900 he was supervisor of the census for the Seventeenth Pennsylvania district. Soon afterward he declined the United States marshalship for the western district of Pennsylvania. On January 20, 1903, Gov. S. W. Pennypacker made him his secretary of the commonwealth.

Mr. Fuller found politics a fascinating game. He played it in Fayette county every day in the year. While his friends were numbered by the score, he was an extremely quiet man. It is seldom he talked of his political plans, and his opponents frequently learned he was resourceful.

Mr. Fuller is survived by Mrs. Fuller, his brother, Dr. John M. Fuller of Uniontown, and his sister, Miss Elizabeth Fuller of Uniontown. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

OFFICIALS NOT AWARE OF DEATH OF MR. FULLER

Governor and Cabinet Members Absent from Harrisburg When the News Reaches There.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, July 10.—The news of the death of Secretary of the Commonwealth Fuller reached Harrisburg tonight, when all the state officials are out of town. Governor Pennypacker is at Schwenksville, and probably will not know of Mr. Fuller's death until morning. It is probable that the governor will issue a proclamation tomorrow formally announcing the death of Mr. Fuller.

Secretary Fuller had not been in Harrisburg since the meeting of the board of pardons, of which he is a member, one week from last Wednesday. A telegram was received here the following day inviting him to preside at Fourth of July exercises at Uniontown, which he declined, because it was not convenient for him to be present.

Mr. Fuller's death may interfere somewhat with the plans of Governor Pennypacker. The governor was to have gone with his staff to Perkasie on Wednesday night for inspection on Thursday of the First brigade, and on Thursday night to Mt. Gretna, where they were to have inspected the Third brigade on Friday. The governor and remaining members of his cabinet will probably attend the funeral.

ENGLAND'S ARMY IS INADEQUATE

Field Marshal Roberts Declares It Unfit to Uphold the Power of Great Britain.

SENSATION IN COMMONS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, July 10.—Field Marshal Lord Roberts created a sensation in the house of lords this evening, when in a lengthy and well-considered speech he deliberately expressed his opinion as a practical soldier that the military force of Great Britain was inadequate, imperfectly trained and totally unfit to uphold Great Britain as a first-class power.

Lord Roberts did not blame the government, which he said was actuated by a national feeling, but he scathingly attacked the people of England who, he said, showed no national feeling toward the military until danger arose. Then said Lord Roberts, "the soldier is the pet of the people. But this is only an evanescent enthusiasm which does not entail self-sacrifice and passes away as soon as the danger disappears."

Lord Roberts said the lessons of the South African war had been forgotten. He had no hesitation in saying the armed forces of Great Britain as a body were now as absolutely unfitted and unprepared for war as they were when the South African trouble broke out.

Continuing, he said the country had to deal with the question of the life or death of the empire, the issue of which depended upon Great Britain being ready to defend her eastern possessions, and at the same time take part in any affair nearer home, either of which necessitated the placing in the field of an army as large and efficient as that of any of the European countries, all of which might be regarded as nations in arms. Every other European country regarded its army as part of the nation, while England considered her army to be something quite outside the national life.

He appealed to the country to awake to its danger and to take hold of the army as a great national issue, on which the existence of Great Britain depended. He said the whole empire must rise to the occasion, and that everyone must personally bear a share in the defense or enable those to whom responsibility was delegated to become in all respects efficient.

The discussion continued for some time, the speakers complimenting Lord Roberts for the stand he had taken. Lord Lansdowne, the foreign minister, defended Premier Balfour. He said that Mr. Balfour had never maintained that the defense of the country depended solely on the navy. The committee on defense had taken every possible phase into consideration and would, he hoped, be able to work out the problem to the satisfaction of everyone.

THIRTY-NINE ENTOMBED.

Explosion in a Prussian Mine Means Death to Many Whose Escape Was Cut Off.

DORTMUND, PRUSSIA, July 11.—A fire has broken out in the Borussia coal mine, caused by the careless handling of a lamp by boys. The lamp exploded, igniting the timbers of the shaft, which burned rapidly. Two hundred and fifty miners escaped through an airshaft, but 39 were cut off, and their death is regarded as certain.

The ground over the mine is sinking rapidly with a sound like that of thunder, as the supporting timbers of the mine are being burned away. Great crowds of women and children are standing about the mine in a drenching rain hoping for the rescue of husbands and fathers.

POISONOUS DRINKS SOLD IN STATE

Commissioner Warren Appeals to Clergymen to Stop Sale of Impure Liquors.

WANTS THE EVIL EXPOSED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, HARRISBURG, July 10.

State Dairy and Food Commissioner Warren is sending copies of a personal letter to every clergyman in Pennsylvania asking their "co-operation in exposing an evil and a fraud which threatens to bring poverty, disease and death to thousands of homes in Pennsylvania before it can be checked by law."

The commissioner refers to the "extensive sale of all kinds of intoxicating liquors, adulterated with irritants and poisons." The circular gives results of chemical tests showing the presence of wood alcohol, salicylic acid, coal tar dyes, sulphites and other rank poisons in large quantities in whisky, wine, beer, etc. He calls attention to the fact that under recent supreme court decisions in the Kibort case, the department was compelled to abandon its crusade against adulterated liquors. The court decided "that the pure food law of the state does not include or apply to liquors."

Commissioner Warren quotes Attorney General Carson as to the state pharmaceutical board, and the new state department of health is also powerless to proceed against the sellers of poisoned intoxicants. The commissioner says a new law cannot be enacted until 1907. "It is necessary in the meantime," he adds, "that public attention be called to the dangers that lie in the use of adulterated drinks."

"This should be your work," says Warren to the clergymen. "The seriousness of the situation prompts this personal appeal for help."

CHINA WANTS TICKET TO THE PEACE MEETING

Insists That She Will Not Be Bound by Treaty Unless She Is a Party to It.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 10.—Besides the peace plenipotentiaries, there will be five delegates with the Russian peace mission, including three secretaries—Prince Koudacheff, formerly secretary of the Russian legation at Tokyo under Baron Rosen; M. Plancon, who formerly was attached to the chancellery of viceroy of the far east, and M. Nabenkoff of the foreign office.

China, in the request which she preferred to Russia and Japan to be represented at the Washington conference, practically served on them notice that unless that privilege is accorded her she will refuse to be bound by the treaty, so far as it affects Chinese territory. Russia is understood not to be averse to the Chinese proposition, but Japan declined to agree to it.

SIXTEEN HURT BY FIRE TRUCK

Children Are Main Victims of Lawrenceville Accident.

CAUSED BY A BREAK

SEES AWFUL ALTERNATIVES

Dashing down the steep grade of Forty-sixth street, at Palmer street, to answer an alarm of fire, Truck E of the city fire department became unmanageable through the breaking of a singletree and 16 people were run down and hurt. The accident occurred at 7:20 p. m. yesterday.

Driver William Goodrich found that the team was beyond his control. Knowing that an accident could not be prevented, he had to choose between running into the larger crowd in the street or the smaller one on the sidewalk. He pulled his horses sharply to the side, the team and truck were hurled on the pavement and the heavy truck struck the house of S. C. Briggs with such force that many bricks were knocked out of the corner. Under the horses and the truck were a score of people. Following is the list of the hurt:

MATTHEW KENDALL, 11 years old, 169 Forty-second street; nose broken and body and legs bruised; taken home.

M. J. DUNN, 8 years old, 187 Forty-second street; scalp lacerated and ankle hurt; taken home.

JOSEPH WELTE, 10 years old, 136 Forty-third street; scalp cut and three ribs broken; taken home.

CHESTER WAUGH, 11 years old, 138 Forty-first street; kicked on head and shoulders by horse; taken to St. Francis hospital.

ARTHUR SETTLEMIRE, 13 years old, Forty-fifth street; trampled on arms and leg by horses; taken home.

ALICE KUHNS, 10 years old, 4605 Hatfield street; right thigh and left leg cut by horses' hoofs; taken home.

WILLIAM ZCAULBA, 7 years old, Snowden alley and Forty-second street; left side trampled by the horses; taken home.

JOHN PEASE, 30 years old, Long alley; knocked down and knee contused; went home unaided.

MARY HASS, 8 years old; 4605 Hatfield street; hurt about the body; taken home.

JOHN BURKE, 5 years old, 128 Forty-fifth street; left leg bruised; taken home.

Seeing the truck coming, most of the people in the way had run. With the crash which brought it to a stop, the firemen jumped, and with the others standing by rushed to the rescue of the people struck. Others summoned physicians, and Drs. Sweeney, Clark, Edwards, Martin, Cameron and Clar were soon on the spot and gave surgical attention.

Several of the women and girls, when pulled out from their dangerous positions, were unconscious, and it was feared for a while that there would be several fatalities. It proved, however, that they had merely fainted. Only two of the victims were so badly hurt as to need attention at a hospital. At 11 p. m., both of these were resting comfortably and it was expected they could be discharged in a few days.

None of the firemen was hurt. One of the horses was cut, and the only damage to the truck was the broken singletree and the loss of some paint.

The fire which brought the truck out was an insignificant blaze caused by a slight gas leak in the house of Mrs. Kate McIsaac, Modoc alley. No damage was done by the fire.

VICTIM REDUCES DEMAND OF BANDITS

American Banker in Cuba Held Up for $30,000, but Is Let Off for Small Sum.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 10.—Julian Cendoya, a wealthy American banker and agent of the Ward line, while dining with his family last night, at his home across the bay, was attacked by eight bandits, who covered the members of the family with firearms and searched the house. The bandits presented a written demand for $50,000, and seized Mr. Cendoya as a hostage until the amount should be paid.

After parleying, Mr. Cendoya agreed to pay $2,000, and the bandits withdrew. This morning Mr. Cendoya came to the city and secured the money, which he turned over to the bandits at a rendezvous in the bay. According to reports, the bandits are all Spaniards, and desperate-looking. One of them has been recognized as a boatman who was formerly engaged in the work of salvage on Admiral Cervera's battleships.

Mr. Cendoya has demanded the protection of the Cuban government, as well as that of the American consul, Ross E. Holaday. His family is prostrated. Rural guards are pursuing the outlaws.

PLEADS FOR NEW TRIAL FOR SENATOR MITCHELL

His Counsel Declares Jury Was Not Instructed as to an Unproven Count.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTLAND, ORE., July 10.—Counsel for United States Senator John H. Mitchell, in an argument today before Judge De Haven, in the federal court, on a motion for a new trial of Senator Mitchell, convicted by a jury of receiving money for practicing before departments while a senator, today laid great stress on the fact that the government did not prove the sixth count of the indictment, wherein it is alleged that on January 4, 1904, Senator Mitchell received a sum of money from Kribe.

It was argued that inasmuch as the jury was instructed that it could bring a verdict upon any one or all of the counts, and was not instructed to except the unproved count, the whole verdict is defective, and should be set aside and a new trial allowed.

District Attorney Heney replied that the government did not, from the beginning of the trial, expect to prove this count, and had informed the jury to that effect. Furthermore, the jury had been given to understand several times that the government was not attempting to make a case on this particular count. By reason of this, argued Mr. Heney, the jury understood perfectly the situation, and was not influenced on this point, and hence the rights of the defendant had not been injured.

WILL PIPE MOUNTAIN AIR TO LABORERS ON CANAL

Genius Has Evolved a Scheme to Send the Pure Breezes Down to Workers in Culebra Cut and Thereby Defeat Yellow Jack.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Chief Engineer John F. Stevens will cut short his Panama canal conference with Chairman T. P. Shonts in New York, and will return here tomorrow to investigate what may be the crowning achievement in the construction of the canal. It is a machine for furnishing fresh air for each individual workman on the canal, for counteracting yellow and malarial fevers and generally rehabilitating a run-down laborer. The inventor explained his plan today to under officers of the commission.

"I propose to locate fresh air plants on the tops of the mountains north and south of Culebra cut, where there is nothing except fresh air," he said. "This air I will gather in by pumps and send it down in pipes laid parallel with the canal and laterally wherever work is being done.

"On the lateral pipes will be small hose attachments, to each of which will be attached an antiseptic nipple, where fresh air can be drunk and enough quinine absorbed to allow a workman to stand in a swamp all day and work with impunity, so far as malarial fever is concerned. The end of each lateral pipe will be left open and the residue of the fresh air will be thrown upon the atmosphere free of charge. I want to charge each workman 10 cents a day for the use of my machine, and this includes a fresh antiseptic nipple every day."

RUSSIAN ARMY AGAIN ROUTED

Japanese Admiral Reports Landing Troops at Sakhalin Island.

ENEMY BURNS TOWN

Mikado's Forces Are in Pursuit of the Czar's Fleeing Soldiers.

TAKE GUNS AND AMMUNITION

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, July 10.—The announcement of the landing of a Japanese force at Sakhalin island and the occupation of Korsakovsk, followed by the northern flight of the garrison, has been received with great satisfaction by the Japanese. The landing of the army at Sakhalin marks the first entry of the Japanese upon Russian territory proper. The Japanese have expressed themselves pleased to be again in possession of the island, declaring that they have long felt that the bargain under which they relinquished the place 40 years ago, was unsatisfactory. The Japanese express belief that they will speedily control the entire island, as they regard the garrison there as being incapable of serious resistance, and are confident that it will certainly be captured.

Admiral Kataoka reports under date of July 7, as follows:

"My squadron went north, and acting in conformity with a prearranged plan, landed marines on July 7 at a point previously chosen. There was no resistance and a portion of our army had already been landed."

City Is in Flames.

Under date of July 8, Kataoka reports:

"One of our torpedo destroyers reports on the afternoon of July 7 that Korsakovsk was burning. The forts previously shelled by the destroyer were then silent. Our army arrived at Tenguma on the afternoon of the 7th."

Under date of July 9, Admiral Kataoka says:

"The squadron convoyed the transports through dense fogs on July 6. The fleet preserved good order and reached the point chosen for concentration on the evening of July 7. The fleet anchored and the work of sweeping the sea of dangerous obstacles was completed. The transports were led in gradually. The warships lowered launches and assisted in landing troops, gunboats protecting the operation. Admiral Dewa reported that his division had reached the landing place at 6 in the morning, and a landing was effected. A reconnaissance was conducted, but no defenses were found. Only three guards were discovered.

Shelled from the Hills.

"The flotilla engaged in sweeping the sea for dangerous obstacles encountered heavy currents, but speedily pressed the work. A portion of the squadron and the transports were led through the cleared space and marines were landed from the combined division. Later, the army relieved the marines. Our sweeping division was suddenly shelled from the hills south of Korsakovsk.

"The cruiser Akagi was also exposed to the fire, but the sweeping was concluded without damage. The army reported by wireless on July 8 that Korsakovsk had been taken. Our flags are visible at several points. We were apprehensive on account of the weather, but the work of the fleet was successfully accomplished. Admiral Nakao reconnoitered in the vicinity of the island, but nothing unusual was discovered. Early on Saturday three warships and two destroyers were dispatched to Tensuma cape. Later, a destroyer entered Rolsei and was vigorously shelled by a field piece. We returned the fire and silenced the enemy's guns."

The following report has been received from the Japanese army headquarters on Sakhalin island:

Our army, without much resistance, occupied Korsakovsk early on July 8. The enemy burned the town and retired to positions eight miles north, where they resumed resistance. We dislodged them and are now in pursuit. At 11 a. m., on July 8, the enemy had retreated to a point 12 miles north of Korsakovsk. We captured two 12 centimeter guns, two 12 pounders, and also an amount of ammunition. We suffered no loss.

RIOT FOLLOWS POWERS' ARRIVAL

Mayor and Police of Newport Clash With Jail Officials Over State Prisoner.

PLACED IN A COMMON CELL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., July 10.—The arrival of Caleb Powers at Newport late this afternoon developed a most astonishing situation, and precipitated a riot and war among the leading officials of the town. Mayor Helmbold indulged in a fist fight with a jail guard, caused the Newport jailer and both his night and day forces, with a citizen, to be locked up, and warrants are now being sought for the arrest of the mayor and the chief of police upon the charge of interfering with United States officers.

Mayor Helmbold appeared suddenly at the jail as Powers arrived, at about 6 o'clock, in custody of United States Marshal Steven Sharpe, from Georgetown. He rushed upon Jailer Bernard Ploeger and commanded him to not dare put Powers in the special cell known as the "cage." Ploeger objected, and Helmbold grew demonstrative. Guard Charles Wilson, a powerful man, was coming by with the night shift at that moment. He told Helmbold that he was not in command of Powers, that he was in custody of the United States, and that it was the duty of the jailer to whom the prisoner had been remanded to obey the orders of the United States court.

Helmbold seized Wilson by the throat. Wilson struck him a blow full in the mouth, knocking him down and rendering him almost unconscious. Helmbold lost his front teeth. The mayor then shouted what seemed a prearranged signal and Chief of Police Deputy with 27 men, the entire force, rushed in with drawn guns and clubs. At the mayor's command they arrested Jailer Ploeger, Wilson, Guard William Fisher, the entire night and day jail forces, and a citizen, John Ader. Ader, who is a prominent cement contractor, laughed when Mayor Helmbold declared that he was "the boss." Sheriff Dan Reidel of Campbell county immediately went on the bonds of the men the mayor caused to be arrested.

Helmbold was in possession of the jail and he forced Powers into the common cells. It was growing late by this time and they started a scouting party after United States District Attorney Tinsley of Covington. He was routed out of bed and advised the men to try again to place Powers in the select cell. He said that Powers was in care of the United States marshals, and that they could place him in any place for which they paid, and that Jailer Ploeger was within his rights in claiming jurisdiction in the matter of that particular prisoner.

In charge of Marshal Emmet Orr Powers was taken from the common cell and started to the select one. The policeman placed there as a mayor's guard loomed up. Powers was pressed into the cell and then pushed out. The operation was repeated until it took on the appearance of a tug of war. Powers took it as a huge joke and laughed heartily. Mayor Helmbold's men were for the time victorious. Powers was returned to the common cell and the matter reported back to Attorney Tinsley. Upon his advice the Powers delegation then started out to secure warrants for the arrest of Helmbold and Chief of Police H. H. Deputy for interfering with United States marshals.

At 11:30 o'clock warrants for Mayor Helmbold, Chief of Police Harry Deputy and the two officers who resisted the marshals and acted as special guards over the cell were issued by United States Commissioner George Leonard, on instructions from United States District Attorney Tinsley. The warrants charge interference with United States officers. They were placed in the hands of marshals who started out immediately to serve them.

KILLED A DOZEN OFFICERS.

Russian Firing Squad Instead of Shooting Mutineers Turn Guns on Commanders.

LONDON, July 11.—The Morning Post from private sources gives an account of the recent outbreak at Libau, according to which the first naval mutiny led to 23 men being condemned to death. The attempt to carry out the sentence of death provoked still more serious signs of mutiny. When the order to fire was given the firing squad turned and fired on the officers instead of on the condemned mutineers, and a dozen officers fell dead. Other troops, including Cossacks, the account says, were summoned and a serious conflict developed in which between 20 and 30 Cossacks were killed before the mutiny was quelled.

NO FENDER ANY GOOD, SAYS DIRECTOR MOORE

Says It Would Be Hardship on the Traction Company to Make It Install Safe Device.

Director Harry Moore is not going to impose "hardships on any "legitimate business interest," even if that interest is the Pittsburgh traction company. The director has thrown on to councils the responsibility for any failure to compel the traction monopoly to install real safety fenders.

Director Moore is a former street car magnate himself, and he has always said that safety fenders were no good. However, he has said he would see that councils' instructions to him to enforce the city ordinance concerning fenders should be enforced; but yesterday he sent a communication to councils asking that a committee be appointed to let him out.

The communication was read in select and common council yesterday. Director Moore says that of the 30 fenders tested recently not one was of any real value. Then he concluded thus:

I do not believe that any law was ever contemplated or passed which should impost hardship upon the community or legitimate business interest, and in view of the fact that a modern improved pilot or safety guard, whereby life and limb would be preserved, has not as yet been demonstrated to be practical, I deem it my duty both to the legislative bodies of the city and the public generally, to call your attention to the above conditions, and ask that you give the matter careful consideration before any action shall be taken by this department in the way of enforcing penalties provided in the ordinance.

The director asked that a committee be appointed, two members from select council and three from the common branch. In select council President Wightman appointed Mr. Barry and Mr. Schleratzauer. The commitmeen from common are not yet appointed.

DR. M'CANDLESS DIES SUDDENLY

Former Physician to Coroner McGeary Expires While Seated in Dentist's Chair.

FATHER TRIES TO SAVE HIM

While having his teeth treated in the office of Dr. J. M. McClaren, a dentist at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street, yesterday afternoon, Dr. Walter Cluley McCandless, a well-known young physician of Center avenue, collapsed and died of heart failure. Dr. McCandless was a son of Dr. J. Guy McCandless, former director of the department of public works, who was with his son, holding his pulse, when the young man expired.

Dr. McCandless yesterday asked his father to accompany him to the office of the dentist to have his teeth attended to, as they had been paining him for some time. The two physicians went to the dentist's office and the younger man was placed under an anaesthetic. The father stood at the side of the chair and held his son's pulse while the dentist was working. Suddenly Dr. McCandless felt the pulse become weak, and he stopped the dentist and they at once set to work to revive the young man. Dr. W. H. Kaltenbaugh was summoned to help in reviving the young man, but he died without regaining consciousness.

Dr. McCandless, who came of a family of physicians, was born in the Eighth ward 28 years ago and was a son of Dr. J. Guy McCandless and Mrs. Mary Cluley McCandless. He received his early training in the public schools of the ward and later at the Central High school, of which he was a graduate. He studied medicine at the medical college attached to Bellevue hospital in New York. After graduating he practiced for a time with his father, and in 1899 became a resident physician at the West Penn hospital.

After leaving the hospital he took up a general practice, his office being at 1520 Center avenue. For a time he served as a district physician for the city and later was appointed physician to the coroner, under former Coroner Jesse M. McGeary, and retired from that position when Coroner McGeary's term expired. Dr. McCandless is survived by his parents, two brothers, Guy P. and A. Wilson McCandless, and a sister, Mrs. Stone, wife of Attorney Stephen Stone.

The remains were taken to Dr. J. Guy McCandless' home, 5436 Center avenue, and last night Mr. Stone telephoned to the public safety building for Dr. A. M. McCandless, the city physician and a brother of Dr. J. Guy McCandless, for him to go at once to his brother's home, as he was prostrated from shock over the death of his son. Late last night Dr. McCandless said his brother was in a serious condition.

The young physician was a member of Sunset lodge 576, Free and Accepted Masons, of the Shriners and of the Sixth Presbyterian church. Funeral services will be held at the McCandless home at 2 p. m. tomorrow. The Rev. Dr. Henry D. McClelland, member of the Freedman's board and former pastor of the Sixth church, will officiate.

CITY OFFICIALS FIGHT OVER PAYMENT OF BILL

Controller Brown and Director McIlvain of Allegheny Engage in Lively Conversational Bout.

Controller James Brown and Director McIlvain of the Allegheny department of public works said some nasty things to each other last night at a meeting of the finance committee in the city treasurer's office after Controller Brown had refused to pay a bill for repairs made in detectives' headquarters.

The bill amounts to $220 and Directors McIlvain and Scandrett agreed to settle it out of their appropriations. The controller refuses to let half the money come out of the public safety funds and this angered McIlvain. After each had expressed his opinion of the other, McIlvain announced that he would have a resolution prepared that would provide for the payment of the bill.

The committee ordered printed for councils an ordinance to pay to the H. J. Heinz Company $1,363 52 for material and labor furnished for the erection of an addition to the municipal hospital.

The ordinance fixing water rents by meter was referred to a special committee and a measure fixing the salary of the assistant superintendent of the bureau of public improvements at $1,500 was ordered printed.

The sub-committee appointed to consider with the city attorney a number of claims against the city arising out of street improvements, made its report. City Solicitor Porter was instructed to make settlements of the claims according to the recommendations of the sub-committee.

BAD FIRE AT OAKMONT.

"Crown Point," the country home at Oakmont of George V. Marshall, the well-known elevator manufacturer of this city, was totally destroyed by fire last night, at a loss of $12,000, including the furniture. The house was temporarily occupied by Henry Dierker and family of this city. The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock on the rear porch. The family says that there was no fire in that part of the house, and this statement gives rise to the belief that the fire was of incendiary origin.

The family had retired and all had a narrow escape from the burning building in their night clothes. The house was a large frame one and the fire had gained such headway when discovered that the bucket brigade which was quickly organized could do nothing. All that could be saved was part of the furniture in the lower part of the house. A valuable bulldog was burned to death. Oakmont has no volunteer fire company.

Ireland Will Lose 20 Seats.

LONDON, July 10.—The government's proposals for the redistribution of seats were issued tonight and proved to be more moderate than had been expected. Roughly the idea is to give one member for every 65,000 of population, thereby abolishing the constituencies having populations under that figure. The effect of the proposals will be a gain of 17 seats to England, one seat to Wales and four seats to Scotland, and a loss of 22 seats to Ireland.

Funston's Father Arrested.

IOLA, KAS., July 10.—E. H. Funston, former congressman and father of Brig.-Gen. Frederick Funston, was arrested today, charged with inflammatory utterances. Mr. Funston in talking of the explosions which blew up three saloons last night said the occurrence would have been avoided if the officers had enforced the laws.

SUN'S RAYS FATAL TO GOTHAM FOLKS

Fifteen Deaths and Two Hundred and Fifty Prostrations from Heat Yesterday.

NEW ENGLAND IS SUFFERING

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 10.

Not for another 24 hours will the complete record scored by the heat of today be known, for it was impossible up to midnight to obtain complete returns from hospitals, morgues, police stations and other places where such statistics are made. Many of the cases reported as prostrations will, it is feared, develop fatally. The known cases of death from causes directly attributed to heat were 15. Prostrations recorded exceeded 250.

Although it was not the hottest day of the season, the mercury reaching only 89, as against 99 scored earlier in the summer. Soon after 3 o'clock a general electrical storm swept over the city and suburbs. It came up suddenly and there fell 2.55 inches of rain. In 10 minutes during the height of the precipitation, there fell 1.20 inches.

At 4 o'clock New York breathed a sigh of relief in an atmosphere of only 69 degrees Fahrenheit. At 8 o'clock tonight the mercury had once more reached 80. But the humidity was not so oppressive as during the day.

Business was seriously interfered with. The mails in this borough and in Brooklyn were delivered with less frequency than called for by the schedules, the carriers and collectors being unable to make their regular tours.

Horses succumbed to the heat and in all parts of the city these animals fell to die within a few minutes. The mortality among the draught animals interfered with the delivery of goods and thus contributed to the business demoralization.

BOSTON, July 10.—The crest of the most intense heat wave of the season passed over New England today, leaving behind it many victims. Up to 9 o'clock tonight six deaths from the heat had been reported from New England points, while there were probably 10 times as many prostrations, some of which may result fatally.

As on yesterday Boston was the hottest place in New England, the thermometer reaching 93 at 2 p. m. From that time the mercury gradually receded until it had dropped 20 degrees.

RECEIVER IS NAMED FOR ST. LOUIS BANK

People's United States Institution Owes About $2,500,000 to Depositors.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Former Judge Selden P. Spencer was today appointed receiver of the Peoples United States bank. The bank owes about $2,500,000 to depositors. The first action by the receiver was to telegraph to depositors of the bank in other cities, about 50 in number, directing them to discontinue the issuance of money order checks and directing them to report to him at once the amount of money on hand.

The appointment of the receiver was made by Judge Mellhenny of the St. Louis county circuit court, on petition of Attorney General Hadley. The petition presented to the court followed the issuance of a fraud order against the bank made by the postal authorities. It stated that the bank had failed to live up to the requirements named by an agreement with the state department April 2 to reduce and eliminate indebtedness due the bank from the Lewis Publishing Company and the University Heights Realty Company, aggregating $800,000.

GLASS WORKERS IN SESSION.

Trying to Fix Basis of Settlement for Scale and Stop Their Quarrel.

CLEVELAND, O., July 10.—Members of the National Association of Window Glass Manufacturers, representing 1,100 pots, met here today to discuss business. President J. B. Johnston, Hartford City, Ind., appointed a wage committee to consult with the Window Glass Workers in September to fix upon the annual scale of wages.

President A. L. Faulkner of the Amalgamated Association of Window Glass Workers, and Simon Burns of Pittsburgh, president of the Knights of Labor, both of which organizations are now in session here trying to consolidate, will address the manufacturers on the wage question tomorrow.

New Loan Quickly Taken.

NEW YORK, July 10.—(Special.)—All indications are that the new $150,000,000 Japanese 5-year 4½ per cent gold loan will be extensively over subscribed. London advices are to the effect that immense crowds thead the approaches to the issuing banks in that city today clamoring for prospectuses, while in this city, though the subscription lists are not opened until tomorrow, applications have already been heavy.

PEACEFUL ARTS USED TO AVERT A WAR

The Agreements Between Germany and France Over Moroccan Affair Ratified.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, July 10.—Premier Rouvier submitted to the chamber of deputies today the notes exchanged between him and Prince Von Radolin constituting the Franco-German agreement relative to Morocco. Great interest attached to the statement owing to the feeling that the agreement had averted a situation recently involving the possibilities of war.

M. Rouvier followed the reading of the note with a detailed explanation of the negotiations. He declared that the understanding now reached between Germany and France was formal upon the essential principles, fully recognizing the special interests of France. He added:

"The accord thus realized leaves intact the arrangements France had previously concluded with other powers. At no moment of the negotiations did the discussion turn upon the Anglo-French agreement or the Franco-Spanish agreement. The declarations made in the notes and the formal assurances from the representatives of the German government permit me to affirm that Germany does not question our accords with Great Britain and Spain."

M. Rouvier's statement was rapturously applauded on both sides of the chamber.

BERLIN, July 10.—The documents covering the Franco-German Moroccan agreement are three in number, and they are all dated July 8. The principles involved are the sovereignty and integrity of the kingdom of the sultan of Morocco, and the introduction of various reforms, all agreeable to France.

The third document is a joint declaration signed by M. Rouvier and Prince Von Radolin that the two governments had agreed to recall their legations at Tangier as soon as the conference met at Fez, and to jointly advise the sultan to prepare a program to be laid before the international conference in accordance with the principles set forth in the letters exchanged between M. Rouvier and Prince Von Radolin.

GAVE UP HIS LIFE TO SAVE THAT OF FRIEND

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, COL., July 10.—To save the life of his chum, Arnold Lawson, the only son of Thomas Lawson of Boston, Gilbert Johnson of Denver sacrificed his own life. The tragedy occurred Wednesday at the Tom Lawson mine at Vrique, Mex.

Manager Rein was paying off some of the extra men, among whom was Jesus Rocha, who demanded $3 more. The manager refused. Angry words passed and the Mexican drew a long knife. Lawson and Johnson ran to the manager's assistance. The Mexican had aimed a blow at Rein but Lawson pulled the manager out of the way. The Mexican, wild with rage, tried to stab Lawson. Johnson attempted to disarm the man and the knife was plunged into his breast.

Rocha was overpowered, disarmed and taken away by angry miners. According to reports they lynched him. A doctor was summoned, but Johnson expired before he arrived. Johnson was 28 years old and the chief engineer of the mine. He had been there only a month. Thomas Lawson has been notified. He will try to have the body removed from Mexico and sent to Denver.

Young Johnson is survived by a mother, Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, and two sisters, Anna and Rose. The mother is prostrated with grief and is confined to her bed, with slight chances for her recovery. The family resides at 2358 Sixteenth street.

ALL HOPE IS ABANDONED.

There Was No Response from Entombed Sailors in the French Submarine Boat.

PARIS, July 10.—Dispatches reaching the ministry of marine show that the officials at Bizerta, Tunis, continue their tedious efforts to raise the submarine boat Farfadet with the expectation of taking out the corpses of the imprisoned crew.

The futile efforts to rescue the imprisoned men shook up the boat, loosening the cap and permitting water to enter into the interior orifice for the admission of air and also served to admit water in other ways.

One of the last messages from the interior of the Farfadet was: "Harry, water gaining." Since then complete silence has prevailed within.

Mr. Bowen's Successor Named.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Formal announcement was made at the state department today of the appointment of William [illegible] Maryland as minister to Venezuela, where he succeeds Mr. Bowen. Mr. Russell was formerly secretary of legation at Caracas, and was sent from there to Bogota as minister to Columbia, where he has been relieved by Mr. Barrett.

TORPEDO BOAT CREW ARRESTED

Sailors Declare They Were Compelled to Accompany Rebel Battleship.

DISPUTE OVER INSURANCE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

SEBASTOPOL, July 10.—The Russian torpedo-boat No. 267, which declined to surrender to the Roumanian [illegible] with the battleship Kniaz Potemkin, declaring that she had not mutinied but had been forced to follow the battleship, arrived here today. [illegible] bers of her crew were arrested [illegible] on board the transport Prut.

Tomorrow will be observed on [illegible] the fleet as a day of mourning for officers and sailors slain during the mutiny on board the Kniaz Potemkine. There will be requiems on all the ships.

ODESSA, July 10.—The authorities here have been informed that the Kniaz Potemkine has sailed from Kustenji, Roumania, for Sebastopol. The question of insurance on property lost by fire in the harbor during the recent disturbances is occasioning serious disputes between the Russian and the foreign insurance companies. The foreign corporations declare that they will make claims against the Russian government. The claimants number about 400, and the total losses are now estimated at $20,000,000.

SIPINGHAI, MANCHURIA, July 10.—The news of the mutiny in the Black sea reached the Russian army through the Japanese, who fired night shells charged with proclamations conveying the information into the Russian advanced posts, scattering the proclamations broadcast. Rain is falling in torrents, and all activity at the front has ceased.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 10.—Negotiations between Russia and Roumania on the question of the surrender of the crew of the Kniaz Potemkine are in progress. Foreign Minister Lamsdorff and M. Rossetti-Solesco, the Roumanian minister here held a conference today on the subject, but no decision was arrived at. Russia is disposed to insist on the surrender of the men, not as political prisoners to which Roumania would object, but as criminals guilty of murder and theft. There were several hundred thousand roubles on board the battleship which the crew divided when they left the ship. The Roumanian government is somewhat embarrassed by the fact that it promised the mutineers, if they surrendered, that they would be treated as deserters. Rear Admiral Piasareffski reports to the admiralty that the engine room of the Kniaz Potemkine is full of water, and it is presumed that the mutineers turned on the sea-cocks before leaving her.

ANOTHER HEAD FALLS TO WEAVER'S GUILLOTINE

Inspector of Buildings Told He Conducted His Office to Suit Exigencies of Politics.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—(Special.)—The resignation of Robert C. Hill as chief of the bureau of building inspection was requested and secured today by Director of Public Safety Potter. The lengthy letter forwarding the director's request contained, in substance, the charge that Mr. Hill administered the bureau so as to suit "the exigencies of political dictators."

Interest in the official investigation into the filtration contracts will shift to New York tomorrow. Mayor Weaver and the lawyers who are representing him in his fight will go to New York and hold a conference with Elihu Root, the new secretary of state. In addition to the mayor and Mr. Root those present will probably include Judge Gordon, Joseph C. Auerbach, the counsel for the committee of 70; Wayne MacVeagh, representing the committee of nine, and William Barclay Parsons, head of the board of expert engineers who are to investigate the filtration plants.

As Mr. Root is to enter the cabinet shortly this probably will be his last appearance as the mayor's counsel. He has been going over the mass of evidence regarding the filtration contracts.

COUNTY OF COAL DEALS HAS ANOTHER WINNER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., July 10.—Within the next few days the greater portion of the Pittsburgh vein of coal in Amwell township, this county, will change hands. George B. Moredock of Jefferson, Greene county, has succeeded in breaking the celebrated "Lone Pine" contract and purchased a large number of farms at $100 an acre.

This compact was entered into by all the farmers in Amwell township, who agreed not to sell for less than $150 and then only as a solid block. Defection was started and now almost the entire block is to be disposed of. Several hundred acres in Morris and East Pike townships have also been opioned within the last few days for $100 an acre.

LIGHTNING AND HEAT KILL FOUR

RIVER GETS ANOTHER BATHER

As a result of the severe heat, which was followed by a severe storm in the upper Ohio valley yesterday afternoon, four are dead and two suffered from prostration.

The dead:

JAMES PESSOALNO, aged 18, a tin plate worker of New Kensington; drowned in the Allegheny river at the foot of Tenth street at 3:15 p. m.; body recovered.

JOHN HOFFMAN, aged 73, a retired farmer of Leetsdale, was struck and killed by lightning near his home.

ALEXANDER WALKER, a mill worker, fell dead from heat exhaustion at 8 a. m., while helping his wife to lay a carpet at their home, No. 298 Thirty-ninth street.

CHRISTINA JENNINGS, aged 3 years, daughter of L. B. Jennings of No. 906 Sarah street, West Homestead, died of convulsions as a result of the heat.

THE PROSTRATED:

JOHN BROWN, aged 14, of Manhattan street, Allegheny, was overcome by the heat in Beaver avenue; taken home.

LAWRENCE MULLEN, aged 22, of River avenue, Allegheny, was overcome by cramps as a result of drinking cold water at Allegheny city hall; sent to the Allegheny General hospital.

Pessoalno went to the Allegheny river to swim with several friends who live at 315 Sixth avenue, about 2 o'clock. Shortly after he entered the water he took a cramp and sank. The body was recovered by Life Guard Alexander Cameron at 8:30 o'clock last night.

Hoffman went out when the storm broke to drive in his cow from the pasture, which is some distance from the house. He tied the cow with a small rope to a tree about 100 feet from the kitchen door. His wife was watching him when a flash of lightning split the tree and struck Hoffman. He was dead when neighbors reached his side. Hoffman about four years ago removed to Leetsdale from Greene county, Pa., where he was born. He is survived by his widow, two sons, George W. of Turtle Creek, and James of Leetsdale, and two daughters, Miss Lucy and Mrs. Mary E. Arstinstaff.

During the storm in Economy an old barn of the Economite society was struck and damaged by the lightning and fire which followed. A valuable horse belonging to T. J. Washburn was killed. Live stock and crops in Economy also suffered greatly from the heavy rainfall.

The maximum temperature, 90 degrees, was recorded in Pittsburgh at 2 p. m. At that hour the city was swept by a gale of wind, which blew at the rate of 26 miles an hour for about 10 minutes. People in the streets suffered from having dust blown in their eyes and many men were forced to race after their hats. While the gale lasted the thermometer dropped from 90 to 78 degrees, but after 4 p. m. the mercury rose rapidly and at 8 o'clock was stationary at 78 degrees.

The storm in the upper Ohio valley was a purely local one, and was plainly visible from the roof of the Farmers bank building, [illegible] and Wood street. [illegible] Meteorologist Frank Ridgway [illegible] rainfall in the city [illegible] of an inch.

GLASS WORKERS MEET IN CONVENTION

Lively Fight on to Move Headquarters from Toledo—Pittsburgh in the Fight.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MARTINS FERRY, O., July 10.—The annual convention of the American Flint Glass Workers union opened this morning with 200 of the 252 delegates present. Nothing was done beyond appointment of the credentials committee, which will report Tuesday morning.

A big street parade of visiting delegates, local unions, police and firemen, city officials, old soldiers and civic organizations preceded the outing in Mcsword's orchard. An address of welcome was made by Mayor Heinrich, to which Vice President William Croke responded. Other addresses were made by Walter Larkins, district vice president of the Amalgamated; H. G. Gauding, editor of the "Commoner;" T. J. Irwin of Martins Ferry, a former vice president, and by Congressman C. L. Weems.

A lively fight is promised over the proposition to remove the national offices from Toledo, and Pittsburgh is making a strong effort to land the headquarters.

BOROUGH COUNCILS MEET.

Sharpsburg Gets After Railroad; Wilkinsburg Receives Good News; McKeesport Tables Everything.

The borough council of Sharpsburg met last night but did not act on the proposed improvements to be made by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The company wants a large tract of land and asks that several streets be vacated. The council wants to bind the company to make extensive improvements and pay the borough $100,000, but no ordinance was offered last night, the borough solicitor being absent.

At the meeting of the Wilkinsburg council the borough solicitor, H. W. McIntosh, reported that he had entered suit against the Mercantile Trust Company, surety of the former solicitor, Watson W. Jones, but since then the company had notified him it would pay up the indebtedness, $4,572. The library committee recommended that the question of whether to accept Andrew Carnegie's gift of $30,000 for a library be referred to the voters at the next election.

At the McKeesport councils the select branch failed to confirm four police appointments made by Mayor Falkenstein and the recommendations were tabled, as was a resolution permitting salespeople to hold a street carnival. A resolution introduced by P. J. Murphy, directing that a railroad bill be taken out of the hands of the railroad committee and placed on the calendar, was adopted by common council, but tabled by select. The bill relates to the installation of safety gates by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

Tuesday, July 11, 1905.

The sudden death of Secretary of the Commonwealth Frank M. Fuller, at his home in Uniontown, following a stroke of paralysis is sorrowful tidings to his many friends throughout the state. He had long been known as one of the strong men in the Republican party in the state, and his absence from the cabinet of Gov. Pennypacker will be felt. While of a retiring nature, he exerted much influence in the counsels of his party in his home county, Fayette, and of the state. As secretary of the commonwealth he contributed much to the success of Gov. Pennypacker's administration.

Portsmouth, N. H., is to be congratulated on getting the hot weather sessions of the peace conference, but aside from the distinction which will attach to the little seaport city so honored, it is doubtful if her citizens will be rewarded by much in the nature of the spectacular. Aside from its cool temperature, a prime recommendation for the town, in the eyes of those who have to do with the conference, appears to be the opportunity for exclusion afforded by its navy yard and new naval building, where the sessions of the conference will be held. Inquisitive spectators, it appears, will not even be permitted inside the naval enclosure without a pass from Uncle Sam. However, since the royal representatives are to "put up" at the city's hosteiries, some compensations will probably be afforded curious citizens who may choose to pick their teeth on the hotel steps.

"Pure Religion and Politics" was the theme of an address delivered by Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte before the Christian Endeavor convention yesterday. Mr. Bonaparte advisedly used his qualifying adjective for religion. As he slyly intimated, under guise of a witty story, pure politics, indeed, might seriously suffer by admixture with certain brands of religion. On the other hand, the secretary thoroughly riddled the nonsensical notion that, to the genuine religious spirit, there is anything incompatible in extending his code of Christian ethics to the business of governing cities, states and nations. Religion is neither a creed nor a ritual, but a life, and that life to be true to itself, as Mr. Bonaparte fitly pointed out, must deal with every phase of its environment, social, commercial and political.

In view of the war clouds overhanging Norway and Sweden, the proposed conference between King Oscar of Sweden and Emperor William of Germany is significant. The two monarchs are to meet at Gefle, a thriving metropolis on the east coast of Sweden, July 13. The reigning house of Germany is bound to the Swedish throne by strong ties of obligation that reach back to 1630, when Gustavus Adolphus, the great war lord of Sweden, threw himself and his powerful army into league with the German Protestants and helped to win the great Thirty Years' struggle whose outcome eventually was the Protestant German empire, the heritage of the reigning kaiser. It will be strange, indeed, if a monarch so imbued with religious zeal as Kaiser Wilhelm apparently is will forget this great obligation in the hour of Sweden's need.

That no ramification of law could be found to reach that phase of criminal conduct involved in the doctoring of government cotton reports seemed preposterous, yet such was the expressed opinion of a United States district attorney. Fortunately for the honor of the agricultural department and the good name of the administration, the department of justice dissents from the opinion of Mr. Beach, and Attorney General Moody will probably have a conference with the president to formulate legal action against ex-Assistant Statistician Holmes. The outcome will be awaited with interest by lawyers and laymen alike.

Meanwhile, even though the nag be stolen, Secretary Wilson is of the opinion there is some virtue in locking the stable door, and if there really is no statute that will reach Mr. Holmes, he proposes to have congress enact a law that will cover such offenses in the future.

Notwithstanding the reserve, natural or assumed, with which Japan is wont to announce the results of her military operations, a note of exultation is apparent in the official announcement from Tokyo that after 40 years the flag of the Rising Sun again floats over the island of Sakhalin. Japan never claimed more than the southern part of the island, and in 1875, by agreement with Russia, her claim was exchanged for some of the southern Kurile islands. Japan, it seems, always regretted this bargain, and now, in addition to the tremendous strategical advantage which the occupation of the island, as Russian territory, gives to the mikado in his peace negotiations, there is coupled the sentimental satisfaction that Japan has come into her own again. Lying, as it does, only about 27 miles north of the island of Yezo, the island of Sakhalin forms a natural continuation of the island empire. While neither the climatic conditions of the island nor its soil is favorable to agriculture, it contains extensive deposits of coal, and the importance of this to a nation whose aspirations for naval supremacy on the Pacific have been so signally supported by her recent victories cannot be overestimated.

People Must Know.

The city administration made a strenuous yet fruitless effort yesterday to push the hump bond ordinance through common council. The same tactics which resulted in the defeat of the project a year ago are being employed. The people are demanding complete information concerning the improvement and so far their desire for knowledge has not been satisfied. The authority to spend $2,000,000 is wanted, yet there is a hesitancy about making public the names of those waiving claims for damages.

According to the procedure in common council yesterday, it was the desire of Director E. M. Bigelow to pass the ordinance first and then give the public any information which he may see fit to impart. The administration councilmen voted down a motion to have the waivers produced immediately and then adopted a resolution calling for their production at the next meeting of council. When this bit of sharp practice was played, the administration leaders thought they had the votes to suspend the rules and pass finally the bond ordinance. There were enough councilmen who represent the whole people to prevent the scheme, even though they had to combat numerous efforts to overthrow well-established rules of parliamentary practice.

The ordinance must now take its regular course and be considered on the separate days, unless either of two things happen to hasten the passage of the loan bill. At the next meeting to be held tomorrow, Director Bigelow is scheduled to give the information the public desires. Should his report be satisfactory, there may be no objection to a suspension of the rules. The other method for hastening the passage of the ordinance has been frequently employed and will doubtless be tried in this instance. Strong pressure is being brought to bear on those who are insisting on full information.

The councilmen who yesterday delayed the passage of the $2,000,000 loan bill are not fighting the cutting of the hump. They are simply voicing the sentiments of a majority of the taxpayers of the city that there should be a complete estimate given of the cost of the improvement and something definite known about the amount of damages the municipality will have to pay. The refusal to give this information a year ago caused the defeat of the project. If the demand again goes unheeded, the voters probably will duplicate their action of last summer.

The Gazette yesterday printed as an item of news the opinion of Judge Dillon of New York concerning the illegality of bonds issued on the credit of the whole city for an improvement which benefits only a portion of the municipality. The publication was proper, as the present is the time for the discussion of the point raised by Judge Dillon. The city officials say there is nothing in it. A year ago Judge Dillon made the city of Pittsburgh pass three ordinances before he would put his stamp of approval on an issue of bonds then being offered for sale. His opinion then was apparently of some weight.

The Heat Invasion.

Conditions are not abnormal that bring us intensely hot days at this season of the year, but the resulting fatalities caused by heat prostrations may be excessive, for the reason that the present summer has been almost without the preparatory heat that fits us by degrees for the extreme manifestations of summer. May had only one or two really warm days and June was remarkable for its coolness and continued rain. Under these conditions the human system has been slow to adjust itself to summer weather. The sudden invasion of excessive heat and humidity is, therefore, very apt to work serious discomfort and be an actual menace to life itself. So far the weather has not been phenomenally hot, though both yesterday and the day before were unpleasant reminders of what July may be expected to do. There is comfort in the reflection that there is nearly always sufficient collection of moisture made during a very warm day for the manufacture of a thunderstorm in the evening, and those always pull down the temperature materially.

If your duties take you into the sun, however, the best plan is to avoid violent and unusual exercise. Above all things, do not seek iced stimulants to cool you off or even too free an indulgence in iced drinks of any kind. A healthy person by due caution should be able to avoid the worst effects of excessive heat, though the suffering on the part of many people is sure to be increased by the hot wave that has prevailed for two days past.

Uncle Sam's Opportunity.

Joseph L. Bristow, special commissioner appointed by the government to investigate trade conditions and other matters affecting the Panama Railroad and Steamship Company, which is now part of Uncle Sam's property, has made his report to the secretary of war. Mr. Bristow's examination of the matter has evidently been as painstaking and exhaustive as the work he did in connection with the postoffice scandals. He has visited all the important posts in the isthmus, the western coast of Central America, and Mexico, besides visiting the important ports on the Pacific coast of the United States and on the Gulf of Mexico. This was rendered necessary by the far-reaching ramifications of a trade that finds its central point of transportation in the facilities offered by the isthmus of Panama.

After thorough observation and listening to complaints of shippers and importers, Mr. Bristow makes a number of strong recommendations, chief among which are that the United States maintain both its Panama railroad line and steamship company, and transform them into thoroughly up-to-date and efficient transportation lines. In support of these recommendations, Mr. Bristow offers an argument that will appeal to the common sense of every business man. If the United States expects a great volume of trade to come to the isthmus after the canal is built, the interests of that trade can best be served and fostered now by taking best care possible of the trade which already is coming to Panama. If the government's railroad and steamship lines are worth operating at all, they are worth operating in a manner that will reflect credit on their owner and prepare the way for the larger trade that is expected.

Concerning the steamship line between New York and Colon, Mr. Bristow says it is worth maintaining, even if for no other reason than that the government will have thousands of tons of its own freight to ship by water. In other words, here is a fair and square opportunity for the United States to demonstrate, without much risk to anyone else than itself, the possibilities for cheap transportation that lie in a line owned and operated by the government.

The Man of the Hour.

Chairman Shonts of the Panama canal commission, officially declared the other day that making life safe and comfortable in the canal zone is infinitely more important at this moment than the moving of dirt. He further declared it would be his first business to see that the problem of sanitation was properly solved. Help to this end was nearer than Mr. Shonts or anyone else suspected. A genius has arisen who offers to the canal commission an invention for supplying fresh air and quinine to canal laborers through antiseptic tubes, at the ridiculously low cost of 10 cents a day. He proposes to gather it up on the mountains, pipe it down to the canal, and send its life-giving and health-preserving qualities into men's anatomies even though they work up to their waists in swamps chockful of malaria germs. "Fresh air, not hot air, is needed to dig the canal," is the catch-line adopted by this inventor. It sounds well, but what is one to believe about a report that on its own confession is a "pipe" yarn?

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

"One half the people in the world don't know how the other half lives," is a very common saying.

And it is a true saying, too true for the good of the world.

The halves referred to are the better and the worse halves, of course, and the generally accepted meaning it that the better half doesn't know how the other lives.

Does the better half care how the other lives? If it does it can easily learn, for the homes of the worse half are open to inspection and may be entered more readily than those of the better half.

The natural experience is that the better half doesn't care to know about the other. It may be somewhat curious to know something about it, but is not sufficiently interested to investigate, or to make serious, earnest inquiry.

Now and then a writer like Zangwell or Riis takes the lid off and makes a few snap-shots. These are touched up and exhibited to the people, the more curious of whom become greatly interested for the time being, but soon turn to something newer and fresher.

However, among the many who view these snap-shots there are a few who become deeply interested and devote time, labor, and money to changing the conditions of the worse half to something better.

* * *

According to newspaper reports, the members of one of the ministerial associations were greatly surprised to learn that vice and crime is as prevalent as one of the city agents of the board of health pointed out in a short address before the association.

Isn't it surprising that this particular body of men should be surprised at anything of the sort? Of all men in the world these should know all about such things. How can they preach effectively and not know what they are preaching against?

What would you think of a lot of generals sent out to fight an open enemy if they did not locate his forces, learn his methods and determine every one of his strongholds and hiding places?

And if after these generals had taken their positions, fortified them, and made them permanent, they neglected to carry the war into the camp of the enemy, what else would you expect the general-in-chief to do but to recall them?

While this illustration is broad and sweeping it nevertheless illustrates the feeling of a great many, not only among the worse but among the better half of the world.

That the average minister is more ignorant concerning the extent of vice and immorality than is the average individual is generally admitted by the ministers themselves.

The business world thereupon decides that he doesn't understand his business, and therefore places the church on its charity list.

* * *

It hasn't been many years since an active, practical minister of the gospel was sharply criticised for answering calls to visit sick and dying fallen women, and for officiating at their funerals.

Not only was he criticised, but the matter was brought to the attention of the church authorities and a movement started to have him "hauled over the coals."

This movement failed mainly on account of criticism that came from the worse and better halves of the people.

"I do this work in the name of Christianity, and if this is not Christianity, then I do not know what it is," was the only reply this valiant minister ever made to his critics.

A popular writer in one of his criticisms of the "unco good," as he terms those who were calling the preacher down, wrote:

"These preachers, honest and faithful according to their knowledge, are by the attitude they have assumed in this case, saying to the world: 'Bring on your sinners, or let them come to our churches and we will preach to them with all our might, and if they are not saved it will be their fault, not ours.'"

Naturally this writer was denounced in certain quarters, and highly commended in others. On the whole he received far more commendation than condemnation, and from that time on the churches became more active in mission work, seeming to have been awakened to a livelier sense of their duties toward the fallen, sinful, neglected ones around them.

Isn't it about time for another awakening?

* * *

The relation of the preacher of the gospel to the people does not seem to be well understood, neither by the preachers nor the people.

As a rule, the people take Jesus as their model preacher, and when they come to compass his simple, common sense methods with those of learned theologians and college-made preachers, they are apt to lose confidence in the latter.

It is held by many belonging to either half of the world, that this accounts for the marked indifference of the masses concerning religion. These see and know the moral and social conditions as they are, and wonder why the church gives them so little practical attention.

In a recent interview Judge Ben. B. Lindsay of Denver said that during the many divorce trials held in his court he had never seen a preacher present taking notes, but in that time he had listened to a good many sermons in which divorce was roundly condemned. Those who knew no more about it than did the preachers regarded these sermons as being great.

"Had these preachers spent one day in my court when I was trying divorce cases, not one of these sermons would have been preached, at least, not in matter and manner as they were," said Judge Lindsay, in conclusion.

Do our preachers make it a point to visit our criminal, divorce and juvenile courts? That is where they can get the "true facts," and get them at first hand. The judges and officers of the courts will gladly afford them every facility for preparing practical sermons.

* * *

No doubt the church and its agents, the preachers, are not well understood by a great many in either half of humanity, but that is not the fault of the people.

To be a successful promoter of any business or scheme, a man must first make himself and his business understood, for the people will not take stock in anything they don't understand, or don't think they understand. And when he has secured the attention and gained the confidence of the people, he must proceed to prove by actual results that it is all that was claimed for it.

In this very practical age sentiment cuts but a small figure when it comes to figuring on returns. The good intentions of those who stay away from the polls on election day count against the ticket they should have actively supported.

The same is true in society, in business and in religion. Those who profess to be Christians but do not act their part, not only add nothing to the cause, but are counted against it.

This is not an editorial criticism, it is merely an effort to give expression to a widespread and spreading feeling among the people that there is something wrong in the social world.

A few hints are given of what some think is wrong. These have been brought out by recent happenings, and no doubt more will be given from time to time.

Taken at His Word.

Once in a Massachusetts town Jacob Riis was asked by a gaunt, funereal sort of chap what he should say by way of introducing him to the assemblage. "Oh," replied Mr. Riis, in a spirit of levity, "say anything you like. Say I am the most distinguished man in the country. They generally do."

Whereupon his serious-minded friend marched upon the stage and calmly announced that he did not know this man Riis, whom he was charged to introduce, and had never heard of him.

"He tells," he went on, with never a wink, "that he is the most distinguished citizen in the country. You can judge for yourselves when you have heard him."—Philadelphia Ledger.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 10.—For this relief many thanks. Just as the city was boiling under the sun, with the heat rising from the asphalt pavement in sizzling waves, and we had prepared for another hot night that meant little or no sleep, a good rain that the weather bureau even did not dream of came along, and the relief was something very grateful after the last two days. Of course, we cannot expect that the change is more than temporary, but even a few hours respite from the spit will prove such a relief that we can pull ourselves together and try to bear the coming weather manfully. This morning it looked as though yesterday's performances was to be repeated with added features on the card. Between 8 and 9 o'clock the mercury climbed from 71 to 79, registered 87 at noon, and kept on climbing until near 3 p. m. Then came the rain and the temporary relief that makes life worth living again.

The extreme heat for the past two or three days has served to keep the S. P. C. A. busy, and the police report the death rate among the domestic animal portion of the population as heavier than ever before known. In one precinct more than 40 cats and dogs were found so near death that chloroform was applied. The horses, too, are suffering greatly, and there have been many prostrations on the streets. These cases have kept the S. P. C. A. ambulances on the go from morning till night. About the busiest person in the city has been Mrs. Mary Turner of 517 West Forty-seventh street, known throughout that section of the city as "the friend of the dumb animals." Last night, accompanied by Patrolman Lynch, Mrs. Turner started on a round of the precinct shortly after midnight with a market basket on her arm. When they returned to the station house there were 12 sick or disabled cats in the basket. They were sent to the S. P. C. A. cat hospital.

Jerome Likes the West.

District Attorney Jerome, who went west with decided opinions about James H. Hyde and John D. Rockefeller, was back in his office today with opinions about the corn and wheat crops of Kansas and other western states, but none for immediate delivery, f. o. b. or otherwise, of Thomas W. Lawson. He brought back, however, a high opinion of the hospitality of the west. Mr. Jerome was absent about a week, in which time he was the guest of different states. He said he had a "bully time," and he looked it. He had found the people of the west free and open-handed, he said, and lacking the cynicism of the east, which was refreshing. He also had found them, as far as he could see, unoppressed by the grinding heel of monopoly.

Negro Artist Gives Exhibition.

Behind the announcement of the opening of an art exhibition in Fulton street, near Ralph avenue, Brooklyn, today by Samuel O. Collins, a young southern negro artist, lies an interesting story. Oribinal art exhibitions are not common among his race, and the young man has undergone considerable hardships to achieve his purpose. He is a graduate of Cooper Union Art school, and has exhibited in the Society of Washington Artists, in the national capital. When not painting, Collins tends furnaces, cleans windows and does other odd jobs to earn an honest dollar to assist him in his art studies. It is his ambition to continue his studies abroad.

All on Account of the Heat.

Policeman Kennell was notified early today by a servant from the Harmonie club at No. 45 West Forty-second street, that burglars were evidently at work in a furnished room house at No. 43. With Detectives Conroy and Summers he started on a hunt. Conroy and Summers met on the roof of No. 41, from the scuttle of which came a sound of hammering. As they bent over the scuttle it opened suddenly and revealed two pretty young women in scanty costume. When the girls recovered from their fright they explained they had rooms on the top floor and that, unable to sleep on account of the heat, they had been trying for several minutes to open the scuttle with a hammer.

Silhouette Bill Has Valuable Secret.

"Silhouette Bill," as they call William F. Wood, who cuts black paper in likenesses at Luna park, is a subject of interest to the United States government. A representative of the postoffice department visited him at Coney Island yesterday, and Wood will go to Washington this week as a result, and thinks that perhaps his right hand will not need to use scissors much longer. Two night before the park opened for the season he sat bolt upright in bed as a thought of a composition to do away with the action of humidity on the paste he uses came to him. He arose hurriedly, lighted a fire and mixed his ingredients. The result was perfect. The company that gums the postage stamps is now willing to pay "Bill" a good price for his secret.

Cat Saves Man's Life.

Thomas McPoland, janitor of the building in Forty-fourth street in which a fatal fire occurred this morning, owes his life, he believes, to a black cat. McPoland slept in the basement and he left the windows open for air. This black cat, a pet of one of the houses in the block, evidently strayed in through one of the windows and curled up on the bed beside the sleeping janitor. When the walls next the boarding house grew hot with fire, the cat awoke and scratched and mewed so vigorously that McPoland awoke too. It did not take him long to get out of the basement, and the cat got out as quickly as he.

Vacation Schools Are Crowded.

Thirty-three vacation schools opened their doors today, and within half an hour every seat in them was taken and disappointed children were being turned away by the hundreds. Never in the history of the schools have they been so overcrowded. In the thickly populated districts of the lower East Side "part time" classes have already been established, the principals being unwilling to turn away the hordes of poor children who are clamoring for admittance. This is the first time that vacation schools have ever been run on "part time."

HOT WEATHER TALES

An Avalon car, jammed with a perspiring mass of humanity, had stopped near the Bellevue Methodist church to take on a man and his wife and their baby, who were evidently off for a summer resort, to judge by the dress suit cases the husband carried. On the sidewalk a slip of a girl was holding down with all her force a little black dog whose struggles and howls gave evidence of his vigorous protest at being left behind.

The new passengers aboard, the car bowled along at high speed, generating a grateful breeze as it sped. Suddenly, when the high bridge was reached and the car slackened speed, a long and dismal howl was heard. An instant later the forsaken little black dog, his sides heaving with his exertions and his tongue hanging out with the almost unbearable heat, dashed up to the side of the car, yelping furiously in his delight at having overtaken his family.

"Isn't it a shame!" exclaimed a dozen passengers, and the sympathy of the entire car went out to the panting little beast. Just then the motorman let out his lever again, and the car took another spurt. No one imagined the poor little dog could keep up, but he fooled them. His little legs fairly ate up the ground, seemed hardly to touch it, indeed, while his shrill, piteous yelps were heart-breaking.

On the car sped, however, for now there were few persons waiting to get on, and as square after square was reeled off, with the faithful little animal still bearing bravely up in the long, hot race, something very like a wave of indignation swept over the passengers.

Finally the car stopped to take on a woman—a fat woman—and it took her quite a while to clamber on. Meanwhile the little dog had planted its forefeet on the running board opposite his master and mistress, and was beseeching as only a dog can beseech to be taken on board. But it was strictly against the "rules of the company," and with evident reluctance and irritability the dog's master pushed the little animal's feet off and tried to send him home.

His commands fell on dogged ears. Doggie, grateful no doubt for the brief respite, nevertheless gathered up his energies for the next spurt. As the car started off again he evidently thought the other side of the track would make smoother running, and dodged around the front of the car. He missed being ground into sausage meat by just about the length of his stubby tail. There was a sudden, smothered scream from the women passengers, a muttered cuss word from the motorman, a sudden grinding of brakes—and then the car was let out again with doggie safe on the other side and still tearing off space with his short, slender legs. Once when the car rounded a curve the panting, eager little brute, with his eyes glued on his people in the front seat, narrowly escaped being crushed between the wheels and a post. A simultaneous warning yell from the passengers was all that saved him.

By this time the passengers were wrought up to high tension, while the young matron with the baby was saying vigorous things to the young husband with the suit cases. Finally, just as the car had reached the outskirts of Allegheny, the young man signaled the conductor to stop. He clambered off with his cases, and his wife and baby followed.

"Here, Gyp!" he called to the little black brute, who was now capering wildly with delight at having won his point, "come on, we're going back home."

"And I'll be hanged if that isn't where I would go, too, if I had a dog like that," sympathetically muttered a male passenger as he threw away the toby which in the excitement of the race he had allowed to go out.

It was 12:30 o'clock Sunday night, and a Hamilton avenue car had just filled up preparatory to pulling out, when a "newsie" burst through the front door carrying under his arm a bunch of New York "yellows."

"All about the rebel-Rooshian!" he yelled; "one thousan' people killed!"

A wave of laughter greeted the unconscious punster.

"Make it 10,000, can't you, sonny, and I'll buy a paper," shouted a man in the rear of the car.

Newsie, stunned at the commotion he had created, dug his toes into the cracks of the floor in abashed silence for an instant.

"Aw, say, quit yer kiddin', can't ye," he finally retorted as he hastily made for the door, and an instant later his voice was heard outside shrilly piping:

"All 'bout th' rebel-Rooshian!"

The conductor was hot and dusty, and belligerency was stamped on every line of his features. The running board was full of clinging passengers and he was mopping the perspiration from his face after having contorted himself down the line and gotten their fares.

Suddenly he felt a touch on the arm and turned around to be confronted by the appealing face of a young woman in the rear seat.

"Please, Mr. Conductor," she said, with a delightful brogue that betrayed her Scotch origin, "would ye mind goin' up there to the front seat an' tellin' them two girls that just got on to look around this way?"

The scowl on the conductor's face deepened and his mouth took on a hard line.

"I haven't seen them in over a year," pleaded the young woman.

The scowl vanished and the conductor's lips even broke into a smile.

"I'll tell them for you," he said as he again made his toilsome way up to the front of the car. An instant later the girls in the front seat turned around in surprise, and then their faces were wreathed in smiles, while their hands waved greeting.

It was all the girl on the rear seat—evidently a domestic—hungered for. She was already at her corner, and as she got off she kept up a series of wigwags with her friends, which continued until she was lost to sight.

Automobiles in Texas.

"I have just returned from a tour of the great ranching region of Western Texas," said the salesman, "and as it is my custom to make that belt at least twice every year, it comes easy for me to note progress.

"No man who has not visited it in recent months can even surmise the great change worked by the automobile. Why, the latter has now brought points more than 100 miles distant from the railways into the closest possible touch with civilization. What used to be days of travel between distant ranches and railway stations is now merely a matter of a very few hours.

"Nearly all the ranches own their automobiles, and you can see them skimming the broad prairie in every direction, at times frightening the jack rabbits and the coyotes and striking consternation to the hearts of hoot owls and the rattlesnakes.

"With the passing of the cowboy has almost come the passing of the cow pony, too, for on several big ranches I actually saw men rounding up the herds in automobiles. For the most part the country in the great ranching region of Texas is level or slightly rolling, making the finest place in the world for the automobile. All along the Southern Pacific to the west and the Texas & Pacific and Fort Worth & Denver railroads dozens of automobiles are to be seen from car windows standing at stations where the buggy and the ranch wagon used to be."—Houston Post.

Some Strange War Bets.

Some extraordinary bets have been made on the Japanese-Russian war. A number of Japanese officers have bet that they would be killed in battle. The money was to go to their widows. One officer, on starting for the front, made the following wager: If he were killed within a month his heirs were to receive $500. After that date he was to pay his opponent 10 yen ($5) a day until he had survived 100 days, after which the bet was to cease. He undertook to expose himself to danger only when military conditions demanded it; in other words, he would not wilfully let himself be killed.—Kansas City Journal.

PICKED UP IN LOBBIES.

Travel Continues to Increase.

"It seems almost paradoxical, this traveling away from work to get rest, but I suppose most of the people enjoy it," remarked a Pennsylvania official as he stood in the Union station lobby and looked at the hundreds of people going and coming through the gates. "Of course, the Pennsylvania system directors are not averse to it, but it has always seemed odd to me that people will endure the discomforts of a day's or night's travel in a hot atmosphere to a summer resort where there is just as much heat as in the offices at home, and then spend another day or night riding back again. The railroads do all they can in furnishing equipment, but it must be admitted that all fall short in having sufficient passenger equipment to handle the traveling public this year. It is something marvelous. No other year that I know of compares with it. I am happy that I took my vacation last spring. Just look at the crowd waiting for the St. Louis train."

The crowd at the Panhandle gate was indeed a large one. The Pennsylvania lines officials did well to add a second section to the St. Louis express, No. 25, last evening. Until the heavy travel lessens the section will be run regularly. All trains at all stations are arriving and departing heavily laden, and, as the railroad official said, fully half of them are vacationists. The more transient vacation travel, such as for a day's outing at one of the nearby railroad parks, is at its height. The H. J. Heinz employes held a picnic at Rock Springs yesterday. The Lutheran church people will gather there today. The Calvary Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will be there tomorrow. The Sunday schools of the First, Third and Fourth United Presbyterian churches of Allegheny will be at Rock Point today, while tomorrow will be known as "U. E. day" there, all of the Sunday schools of the Methodist Episcopal churches of the East End and Homewood districts going in special trains.

Mr. Schwab, who is a loyal member of the club, has promised to join them for at least a portion of the time.

Maude Adams' Favorite Story.

This is said to be Maude Adams' favorite story: A colored "gemman," name unknown, but called "Culpepper Pete," who, being enamored of some dusky maiden, and not having the courage to "pop" face to face, called up the house where she worked and asked for her over the telephone. When he got the proper party on the line he asked, "Is dat Miss Johnsing?" "Ya-as!" "Well, Miss Johnsing, I've got a most important question to ask you." "Ya-as." "Will you marry me?" "Ya-as. Who is it, please?"—Boston Herald.

MERCHANT KILLS TRAMP BURGLAR

While Entering a Window Natrona Store Keeper Gives Him Contents of His Shotgun.

26 SHOTS PIERCE MAN'S HEART

With 126 birdshot in his face, left arm and breast, John Molnar, aged about 21, a foreigner, fell out of a window of a store he was trying to rob in Natrona shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning. His companions fled on seeing Molnar fall. Molnar died about 10 minutes after being shot. When the post mortem examination was made at the morgue it was found that 26 of the shots pierced the man's heart, while about 90 entered the lungs.

Molnar is thought to have had about five companions, and although several members of the county detective force were detailed to find them, up to late last night no captures had been reported. The store which the burglars attempted to rob is conducted by Henry F. Thomas in Vine street, Natrona, close to the West Penn railroad. Thomas has living quarters in the rear of the store and has been on the watch for visits from burglars, as his store has been robbed on several occasions, the last time during the Christmas holidays.

Shortly after midnight of Sunday Thomas was awakened by someone trying to get into the store. The men left after working a short time, but later returned and then went away again. The men returned a third time and a fourth time, and the last time Thomas arose from his bed and, taking his shot gun, went through his living apartments toward the general storeroom. While watching from a doorway he heard the window in the side of the store being broken and soon a head and shoulders appeared.

The man was being supported from the outside by his companions and when he raised himself to reach for a chair, which was standing near the window, Thomas raised his gun and fired. The shots scattered over the man's left breast and he fell backward from the window. When Thomas went to the window to look for the man he found him lying on the ground alone, his companions having fled to cover.

When the burglar's body was received at the morgue the pockets were searched and several cards bearing the name of John Molnar and the names of many cities in the United States written on them were found. It is thought the man wrote his name and the city on a card when he visited them. Molnar is thought to have been a tramp.

While working at the city filtration plant at Aspinwall yesterday afternoon Bandizar Dalesunzo, aged 30, an Italian laborer, fell into a concrete mixer and was smothered to death before he could be rescued. He lived at the camp on the filtration plant site. It is not known where he came from.

While trying to start a fire at her home in Cochran street, Duquesne, Mrs. Mary Voschak, aged 15, was fatally burned about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She died at 7:30 o'clock.

Mary Bousek, aged 1 year, fell into a washtub filled with cold water at her home, No. 833 Washington avenue, Braddock, yesterday and was drowned. The child's mother, Mrs. Elnora Bousek, left the child in the kitchen and went into the rear yard to hang up washing. She returned about 1 o'clock and found her child dead.

William Pauline, an electrician at the Brunots island power house of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was killed by falling from an electric crane beam at the power house yesterday morning. His neck was broken and his scalp was badly cut. Pauline was an expert electrician and had arranged to go to Canada to work for the Schoens in the fall. He lived in Sixth street, Esplen, and is survived by his widow and two children.

The body of Daniel Buvino, aged 16, who was drowned in the Allegheny river near the Brilliant pumping station on Saturday, was recovered yesterday morning.

WOMEN'S HOME PROVES HIDING PLACE FOR LOOT

Wagons Necessary to Haul Away Goods Said to Have Been Stolen in McKeesport.

After breaking away from Constable Charles Moore of McKeesport, Dora Woods, one of the women arrested yesterday on charges of shoplifting, was recaptured only after a hard chase through streets and alleys. The woman is said to have then confessed that three large baskets containing several hundred dollars worth of stolen goods were in the possession of herself and two companions—Mary Woods, a sister, of Grove City, and Jane Sullivan, a sister-in-law, of Buena Vista, above McKeesport.

The women have been living at Buena Vista, where it is said the Woods sisters own a home. A search warrant was secured and officers went to the place, where they found a large amount of plunder which was loaded into a wagon and removed to Alderman Mansfield's office. The loot consisted of expensive linens, table cloths, cigars, tobacco, etc. Hardly a merchant in McKeesport has been missed apparently. Many merchants appeared at the alderman's office last evening and identified much of the goods. In the three baskets which the trio were carrying when arrested were women's coats and jackets, dress goods, silks, shoes, pen knives, cigars and other articles. A quart of whisky in one basket the women said they had paid for.

It is said that the women have obtained thousands of dollars worth of goods by entering stores on pretense of making purchases and differing from the stock while the clerks' attention was drawn to some other part of the store. The women were well dressed and good looking. They were placed in central police station and will receive a hearing before Alderman Mansfield this evening.

Both Oakwood and Southern Parks Have Strong Bills This Week.

Southern park has one of the big laughing hits of the season this week in Crimmins and Gore's new comedy, "A Warm Match." Unlike most musical farces "A Warm Match" possesses a plot, the story of which is a pleasing one. Crimmins and Gore produce their famous ludicrous novelty, "What Are the Wild Waves Saying?" "A Point to Bear in Mind," sextet is quite a feature; "Lindo, My Hindoo Queen," "Good-By Sis" and other popular songs.

Oakwood park's theater has Carter and Blueford's Louisiana troubadours. They have an entirely new offering entitled "The Coonville Carnival." The performance closes with a strong olio. The motion pictures at the Southern show the "Great Train Robbery" and those at Oakwood "The Nihilist."

TO SEE MURDER SUSPECT.

Detective Cole Goes to Canton Today to Look at Prisoner.

Detective George Cole will leave for Canton, O., today to try and identify a man held under arrest there on suspicion of having murdered a policeman in Pittsburgh three years ago. The prisoner has given his name as Robert Swanagan and is a colored man. What evidence the Canton authorities have is not known here.

The police records do not show the murder of a policeman three years ago, but just two years ago Policeman James Hickey was shot and killed by Silas Carter, a negro he had under arrest at Wylie avenue and Elm street. Carter escaped and was never captured.

TRICKERY FAILS TO WIN FIGHT

Administration Defeated in Attempt to Hoodwink Public and Rush Hump Ordinance.

COUNCILMEN WANT LIGHT

The city administration was defeated last night in its efforts to rush through the hump bond ordinance without giving councilmen or the people an opportunity to examine into the question. Those who voted against the ordinance took the stand that they were not necessarily opposed to the removal of the hump, but that they, as councilmen, desired the fullest information as to the probable cost of the improvement and the amount of damages that might have to be paid to property owners in the hump district.

They had a hard fight, even though they were finally victorious. Had it not been for the defection of James M. Fullerton, who at first voted against the administration's rush program, but after a visit to the mayor's office went back into the common council chamber and carried out the program agreed upon in the mayor's office, the administration would have confessed defeat in the afternoon. However, Mr. Fullerton's aid having been enlisted a second session was held in the evening. On this occasion Mr. Fullerton again went back on his earlier record, but again the administration was defeated.

Administration Must Proceed Orderly.

And yet it is only fair to say that the general proposition to call an election for a vote on the hump bond issue is not defeated. The administration has the votes to put the measure through, but it must be done in an orderly manner, the opposition having succeeded in defeating all efforts to rush an unconditional measure through.

The city charter contemplates the holding of four meetings before an ordinance can be finally passed by councils. At one meeting the measure is introduced and referred to committee; at a second meeting it is put on first reading; at a third it is placed on second reading, and at a fourth meeting it is placed on third reading and final passage. The administration sought to have the ordinance passed finally by common council at the second meeting under a suspension of the rules, select council being in readiness to concur and rush it to the mayor for his signature. Those who defeated this program took the ground that it was not an emergency measure, and that it ought to be carefully considered; otherwise the hump removal might cost $3,000,000 or $4,000,000, instead of $2,900,000, the amount estimated by Director Bigelow.

The administration made herculean efforts to secure a suspension of the rules, its henchmen in common council resorting to the rawest kind of unfairness to obtain their point, even disregarding the plain mandates of the parliamentary rules under which the business of common council is conducted. Director Bigelow sat all through the meeting in the chamber, directing the movements of his lieutenants, and Mayor Hays sat in his office, using his influence to induce councilmen opposed to the administration's methods to change their votes.

Bigelow Sneers at Brand.

The hump ordinance was brought up by D. J. Bole, chairman of the finance committee, who moved that the rules be suspended and that the ordinance be placed on second and third reading and final passage. William Brand, Republican floor leader, called for the ayes and noes. Those voting no were: Brand, Bailey, Barton, Bergmann, Fullerton, Gibbon, Johns, Joyce, Martin, Milby, Perley, Rapp and Clinton. The vote stood 32 1-3 to 15 1-3, and as it requires a three-fourths vote of the members voting to suspend the rules the motion was lost. A motion to suspend the rules and put the measure on second reading was also lost.

Mr. Brand moved that the mayor be requested to lay before council at its next meeting a list of the property owners who had signed waivers for damages that might be caused by cutting the hump, but the motion was lost. By Director Bigelow's instructions Richard McNally, one of his followers, moved that Mr. Bigelow be directed to produce the waivers at the next meeting. A. G. Roenigk asked that Mr. Bigelow be heard and the director arose and said that he had in his hands signatures to waivers of damages and a map showing all the property affected by the proposed hump cut. Mr. Brand said the city ought to have waivers from every property owner affected and complete information as to the depth of the cut.

Mr. Bigelow remarked that Mr. Brand did not know what he was talking about; that mere numbers of waivers were not important; the main thing was to secure the waivers of persons damaged by the cut. Mr. Brand said he did not know anything about the matter, and that was why he wanted information.

Bigelow Talks to South Siders.

Mr. Bigelow said councils and the administration did not have the say as to damages; that was a matter to be settled by the viewers appointed by the court. There were not only damages, he said; the hump would also produce benefits. The motion requesting the director to produce the waivers at the next meeting was unanimously adopted.

A motion to reconsider the vote by which the motion to put the hump ordinance on second reading had been lost was made by John J. McKelvey, and seconded by Mr. Cornmiller, but Mr. McKelvey had voted with the losing side and Mr. Brand objected to considering the motion. President Ward decided in favor of Brand's point of order. At this juncture the administration seemed to give up the hump, and Mr. McKelvey, to gain time, asked that Mr. Bigelow be heard on the hump question. Mr. Bigelow said he could not see why any member of councils, especially the members from the Southside, should vote against the hump proposition. The Southside people had their free bridges and paid but one-ninth of the taxes which paid for the bridges. In case the hump were cut down the tax to the South Sider owning a $3,000 house would be only 30 or 40 cents a year. In reality the increase of the taxable value of the hump property would pay off the cost of the improvement in 15 years. Mr. Frick would build a structure on the cathedral property that would pay $100,000 in taxes yearly.

While Mr. Bigelow was talking the administration agents were busy. Councilman James M. Fullerton was called out of his seat and disappeared into the mayor's office. When Mr. Bigelow finished Fullerton returned and to the astonishment of the men with whom he had voted moved that the motion to suspend the rules and place the hump ordinance on second reading be reconsidered. That motion had been lost. Mr. McKelvey had sought to bring it up again, the attempt being defeated as told above, but Mr. Fullerton had voted with the winning side and his motion to reconsider the vote was in order. Then Mr. McKelvey seconded Fullerton's motion. Mr. Brand objected that McKelvey had voted with the losing side, but President Ward decided against Brand.

President Ward's Surprising Act.

Brand appealed from Chairman Ward's decision and Ward, to the surprise of his own friends, called to the chair McKelvey, whose right to second the motion was in dispute. Mr. Brand appealed to McKelvey, saying that it was not fair that he should sit in judgment on his own case, but McKelvey stuck to his post and decided that the chair was sustained, although rule 24 of the state legislature, on which the rules of councils are based, plainly states that the "maker and seconder of a motion to reconsider must have voted with the majority which defeated the original motion."

President Ward resumed the chair and put the motion to suspend the rules and place the ordinance on second reading, but despite the trickery practiced, the motion was defeated. Under the rules, a motion to reconsider a certain measure can be made but once on the same day.

Some more routine business was transacted and then common council took a recess until 7 p. m. The administration had still a chance to get the ordinance through, if it could induce enough members on the other side, like Fullerton, to go back on their previous votes. It will be remembered that besides the motion to suspend the rules and put the hump ordinance on second reading a motion to suspend the rules and put the ordinance on second and third reading and final passage had been lost. The attempt to reconsider the first motion had been defeated and there still remained a chance, by reconsidering the second motion, to put the hump ordinance through.

Agents Busy During Recess.

During the recess, from 5 till 7 p. m., the administration forces were busy telephoning for their own members who had not been present at the afternoon session and trying to break the alignment of the opposition. James McKnight was labored with. Mr. McKnight said it was true the people of the Fourteenth ward had voted last year for the hump removal, but he deprecated such haste in pushing the new measure through and he knew the people of his ward desired all possible information as to the probable cost of the improvement and the names of the property owners who had signed damage waivers.

At 7 p. m. common council was again called to order, but because of a lack of a quorum a recess of a half hour was taken. Fullerton again jumped into the breach and made a motion to reconsider the vote by which the motion to suspend the rules and place the ordinance on second and third reading and final passage had been lost. The ayes and noes were taken and by a vote of 34 1-3 to 12 1-3, Fullerton's motion carried. Mr. McKnight voted for the motion to reconsider the vote, but A. R. Girdwood, who was not present at the afternoon session, had come in and offset this apparent loss. Then a vote was taken on the motion to suspend the rules. Mr. McKnight, who had voted for the reconsideration, did not vote for the motion to suspend the rules. All the others voted as they had voted before, and the result was 22 1-3 ayes to 12 1-3 noes, less than the required majority. Therefore, the motion was lost and the ordinance will have to come up in the regular order at the next meeting.

Immediately after adjournment Mayor Hays and Director Bigelow ordered that common council be called in special session tomorrow, when the ordinance will probably pass second reading. Director Bigelow will present his list of damage waivers, but there will be no time for council to examine them, if the administration's intention to push the bill through to final passage can be carried out. Those councilmen who desire that all the light possible be shed on the hump project may succeed again in hindering the carrying out of the administration's program.

SELECT WHILE WAITING DISPOSES OF MANY BILLS

Passes 109 Measures While the Common Branch Is Dallying With the Hump Proposition.

Select council was called to meet at the same time yesterday as common, the administration being confident that the common branch would pass the hump ordinance and that select could then take it up. The select branch, while vainly waiting for common to carry out the administration's program, passed 109 bills that had passed common council at previous meetings. Nearly all were for street and sewer improvements, including the ordinances for improving Bluff street and Washington square and one for the repeal of the widening of Second avenue from Ross to Try streets. Other measures looked to the annexation of Esplen borough, provide for assistant counsel to prepare a city digest, for the city auditor to take charge of all indirect revenues and for the employment of an additional draughtsman in the assessor's office.

These ordinances after passage were messaged to common council, where they were concurred in:

Fixing the salaries of the assistant superintendent and clerk of the bureau of electricity at $150 and $100 a month respectively; transferring $20,000 from the fund for grading and planting of the slopes of the Schenley park oval to the fund for improving and reconstructing the same; transferring $1,500 from the fund for repairing the Smithfield street bridge to the fund for relooring the Aiken avenue bridge; transferring $5,000 from the fund for new work in Schenley park to the fund for repairing and repainting the interior of the palm house, and creating additional inspectors of brick work in the bureau of construction.

In select council a number of measures recommended by the public safety committee were passed finally. The ordinance requiring pawnbrokers to install telephones for police notification was referred back to the committee. Despite the objections of Dr. Burns and William McKelvey the resolution increasing the appropriation for the new Twenty-second ward engine house from $37,000 to $57,000, was passed.

In common council, on the call of wards, a number of resolutions were introduced, among them measures to pay Policeman S. E. Gilson $36.28 for medical services incurred through being assaulted by two robbers, and to grade Avondale place and Hamilton avenue.

THIEVES OPEN TRUNK AND CARRY AWAY $800

An Allegheny Butcher Chases Burglars Through Streets With Knife, but They Escape.

With a long knife clasped in his hand, Michael Polyak, a Slavish butcher, chased two thieves yesterday morning through the streets of Lower Allegheny. The thieves had $800 in bills that had been taken from a trunk in Polyak's home.

Polyak has a shop at 2214 Beaver avenue. He was attending to his trade yesterday morning when he heard his wife scream. The couple have rooms above the store. Polyak started for a side door entering upon a hall that leads to the stairs. Two men rushed through the hall and Polyak threw a long knife at them. It missed and stuck in the opposite wall. Polyak took the knife and started along Beaver avenue and down Adams street toward the Ohio river. One of the thieves continued toward the river while the other ran out Preble avenue and got away from Polyak in the Pittsburgh & Western railroad yards. This man, Polyak says, had his money, for some of the bills could be seen sticking out of the side pocket of his coat.

Acting Superintendent John Cleen put Detectives Speer, King and Johnson on the case. They found the robbers had broken open a trunk in the front room of Polyak's home and had found the money wrapped up in a number of old socks. Polyak has no faith in banks and says he has always kept his savings in the trunk. The police are of the opinion that someone familiar with Polyak and with knowledge of his possessions did the job.

HAMILTON'S

was examining some of the exquisite

in our salesrooms one day last week. She asked the price of a very beautiful piano. The salesman displayed the price tag — marked $388.00 — whereupon the lady exclaimed, "Why," what's the matter with the piano? Is it damaged in any way?"

"Not at all," replied the salesman, "What makes you ask that question?" Do you see anything wrong with it?"

"No, indeed," said the lady. "It's a beauty but I can't understand how you can afford to ask so little money for such a fine piano."

The salesman explained that the Hamilton system of selling pianos—briefly stated—meant the very lowest possible prices for the very highest possible quality. The Hamilton system will save you money if you buy your piano here.

PETERMAN'S ROACH FOOD.

A BOON TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

The most improved method to free a house of large or small roaches is to use the contents of a box of "Peterman's Roach Food" at one time. Shake it on joints so some of it will penetrate and remain to keep the premises continuously free. Roaches eat it as food; it is the most destructive remedy on this earth to them, and it will not scatter them to other places to live on and multiply.

BEDBUGS—"Peterman's Discovery" (thick), a quicksilver cream, is invaluable to kill bedbugs. Apply lightly with brush on beds when apart, on backs of picture frames, mouldings, etc. It will remain permanent, and is the only remedy that they absorb and kills those that go over where it has been lightly brushed on. It will not rust iron, harm furniture or bedding.

"Peterman's Discovery" (liquid), in flexible cans, handy to force in joints for quick application, will kill bedbugs and their eggs instantly.

"Peterman's Ant Food"—A strong powder to kill and drive away ants.

"Peterman's Rat-mouse Food" makes rats or mice wild; they will leave and not return.

Take no other, as time may be even more important than money.

Originated in 1877. Perfected in 1905 by Wm. Peterman, Mfg. Chemist, 54, 56, 58 West 13th St., New York City. London, Eng. Montreal, P. Q.

Sold by all druggists in Pittsburgh and throughout the United States.

PEACE TREATY PLACE SELECTED

Plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan to Meet at Portsmouth Navy Yard.

WILL NOT BE INTERRUPTED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, July 10.

President Roosevelt has arranged to have the Russian and Japanese peace plenipotentiaries meet at the Portsmouth (N. H.) navy yard, after they had made a free selection of that place. This is actually "putting them on an island," which is under the control of the naval forces of the United States. No one can enter upon the island or leave it without the consent of the United States, and in this way the high contracting parties to peace in the far east will be absolutely isolated and conduct their deliberations without any fear of espionage or interruption.

Another important announcement made today indicates that the peace plenipotentiaries will not even hold their preliminary meeting in Washington. They will assemble in New York, and will proceed from New York to Oyster Bay, where they will meet the president. They are to be conveyed from New York to Oyster Bay on two protected cruisers of the Cleveland type, which will probably be detached from Admiral Sigsbee's squadron. The plenipotentiaries of each nation, accompanied by their suites, will be assigned to a cruiser.

May Not See Washington.

It is expected that the plenipotentiaries will proceed direct from Oyster Bay to the meeting place at Portsmouth, N. H., by water. They will be conveyed by the yacht Mayflower and the dispatch boat Dolphin, the parties being kept separate, as in the case of the journey from New York to Oyster Bay. The Mayflower and Dolphin, on the trip to Portsmouth will be escorted by a cruiser.

There are only two contingencies in which the plenipotentiaries may be in Washington at all while in this country. It may be that their conferences will be so prolonged that the president will have returned to the national capital by that time, when they would come to take leave of him here. And it may also be deemed expedient to have the treaty known as the treaty of Washington, in which event the plenipotentiaries would hold their final sessions here. The general expectation is that the peace treaty will not be signed until October.

The announcement of the selection of the Portsmouth navy yard was made at the state department today by Assistant Secretary Peirce, who will have charge of all arrangements for the entertainment of the distinguished guests of the United States. It seems that while there has been a great deal of discussion about the desirability of various summer resorts, there never has been a time when it did not seem likely that Portsmouth would be selected, although that fact was kept a secret by the president and those acting for Russia and Japan.

Guarded Against Intrusion.

In the first place Portsmouth had all the advantages of a cool and bracing northern climate. In the second place it seemed absolutely essential that the United States should exercise direct authority over the place of meeting, so as to guard the plenipotentiaries from the importunities of inquirers and the intrusion of sight-seers.

The building which will be set aside is the general store or equipment building at the navy yard, which has just been completed at a cost of $120,000. This is a fine three-story building with stone trimmings, and is fireproof. It is 202 feet long and 82 feet wide. The most suitable rooms are on the second floor, where there are ample offices.

The rooms here will be fitted up under the supervision of Assistant Secretary Peirce, acting with the naval officials. In this building and on this island the plenipotentiaries will be as sure from molestation and intrusion as if they were at sea on a warship. It is expected they will live at hotels in or near Portsmouth, six miles distant, or, if they do not desire to live at hotels they can be made very comfortable on board the Mayflower and Dolphin, which will be constantly at their disposal.

WHO IS WHO AT THE EXPO.

Interesting Gallery of Local Notables to Be One of the Coming Season's Features.

Arrangements have been perfected by the Western Pennsylvania Exposition society whereby water color portraits of 200 of the leading business men of Pittsburgh will be placed on exhibition during the next exposition season. At a recent meeting of the board of directors the names of 200 men who have been active in the more prominent walks of life in Allegheny county, were passed upon. A long list was submitted and from this list the most representative men to be found in the Smoky city were chosen.

The pictures, which will be of bust size, will be 24 inches long and 18 inches wide. They are all done in sepia coloring and come from the brushes of a Pittsburgh firm.

The aim in the selection has been to obtain the names of men who have actually assisted in making Pittsburgh one of the foremost cities of the world. Numbered among those whose pictures will be placed in the gallery are the leading lights in many of the professions. The men from the industrial world are many. A score or more have been selected from iron manufacturers, while bankers, lawyers and physicians are found in the group.

The gallery, it has been decided, will be along the main aisle in the main building, where the best of light in the long building is assured.

BERKEY WILL ACCEPT.

Prominent Johnstown Educator Elected to Principalship of the Oakland Sub-District Schools.

Another principal for the Oakland subdistrict schools, Fourteenth ward, was elected last night. On July 3 the board elected T. F. George of Carnegie, principal. Last Saturday Prof. George declined to accept the position. The board met again last night and elected Prof. J. M. Berkey of Johnstown. It is a certainty that Prof. Berkey will accept the principalship.

Prof. Berkey is a man of high standing in Pennsylvania educational circles. For the last nine years he has had charge of the Johnstown schools and they have been very prosperous under his direction. He has served as president of the state educational association and is well known all over the state.

BOAT UPSETS THROWING THREE INTO THE RIVER

While attempting to change seats in a skiff while on the Monongahela river, opposite Braddock, yesterday afternoon, John Shannon of Homestead accidentally overturned the boat, throwing himself and two companions, Misses Theresa Brown and Annie O'Connell of Braddock, into the water. Shannon and the girls managed to cling to the overturned skiff until rescued by men who had witnessed the accident. Shannon received a deep gash on the head where he fell against the side of the boat before it capsized.

Will Purchase More Property.

The managers of the Boys' Industrial home at Oakdale met at the home yesterday. The treasurer reported receipts of $1,901 65 during June, part of this being for the purchase of property. On motion of Harvey Henderson a vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Elizabeth May of Allegheny, who recently gave the home $1,000 in memory of her son, the late Joseph H. May.

DEPEW GOT LOAN FROM COMPANY

Equitable Advanced $250,000 on $150,000 Security and Had to Foreclose.

TESTIMONY TO BE STARTLING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 10.—The World tomorrow will say: "Revelations far more startling than those in the report of Supt. Hendricks are contained in the testimony taken in the state insurance department's investigation of the Equitable Life Assurance society.

"Senator Chauncey M. Depew testified that the Depew Improvement Company, in which he was interested, obtained a loan from the Equitable of $150,000 on property which the state insurance department valued at only $150,000. He admitted that neither principal nor interest had been paid and that the Equitable had been forced to foreclose.

"He admitted that, as a member of the executive committee of the Equitable he had not advised this loan, but had voted for it. He confessed to making a promise that the Equitable should be made whole, but in the same breath said that promise was not legally binding.

"Jacob H. Sniff, confronted with records of the Equitable that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had sold a large amount of Union Pacific preferred stock to the society, swore that these records were false. In various sales of bonds to the Equitable by his firm he admitted that a large loss was shown. He confessed that he had been a dummy director, but said that since the Equitable scandal developed he had bought five shares of stock, paying $2,000 a share.

"It appeared from his testimony, that of Mr. Hyde and others that the Equitable had taken $2,000,000 worth of Union Pacific preferred apparently at the suggestion of E. H. Harriman. It appeared that this stock was taken under a syndicate agreement that it should not be sold, making the deal a speculative one. No record of this agreement was put in evidence. Mr. Hyde said Harriman had it, but Mr. Harriman was not called as a witness."

James Hazen Hyde, the former vice president of the Equitable Life, is to be made first defendant in the actions to be brought by the attorney general to compel restitution of policy-holders' funds and to debar unfaithful trustees from ever holding office on boards of directors of any life insurance company. Mr. Hyde will be summoned within a week to appear in court and answer to the state of New York for his acts while in control of the Equitable.

Former President Cleveland, Justice O'Brien and Mr. Westinghouse, the Equitable trustees, met in this city for several hours this afternoon. Secretary Parker reported after the close of the conference that some little progress had been made, but that the trustees had nothing to make public of the day's proceedings.

There will be another conference tomorrow.

CHANCE TO WIN AN AUTO.

One Will Be Raffled Off as Feature of Orphans' Picnic—Many Babies for Show.

Along with opportunities for lucky persons to win cash prizes, free trips to the seashore and a house and lot at the Orphans' picnic at Calhoun park tomorrow and Thursday, Chairman A. S. McSwigan arranged yesterday with Banker Bros. to raffle off a $2,000 automobile. The machine will be delivered to those having the picnic in charge this morning. It will traverse the principal streets of Pittsburgh today and tonight it will be taken to Calhoun park, where it will be on exhibition the two days of the picnic. Chances on the machine will be disposed of by committees on the grounds during the two days.

Another announcement made yesterday was that all the artists employed on the Pittsburgh newspapers had contributed pen and ink sketches to Chairman McSwigan. Every drawing is a work of art and these will also be disposed of by chance.

Carpenters will start work this morning to prepare for the two days' outing. Booths are to be erected and decorated. So that there will be no shortage of cars General Superintendent John Murphy of the Pittsburgh Railways Company yesterday ordered that cars with trailers leave Fourth avenue and Smithfield street every two minutes for the park during the day. Last night the Rev. Father Lynch had nearly 600 applications from mothers who desired to enter infants in the baby show.

GUARANTORS ASSESSED.

Those Who Stood Sponsors for Pittsburgh Orchestra's Spring Tour Must Now Settle.

The following circular letter has been sent to the guarantors of the spring tour of the Pittsburgh orchestra by James I. Buchanan, William McConway, James H. Park, J. B. Shea and E. Z. Smith, the orchestra committee of the Art society:

In accordance with the plan outlined in the guarantee entered into by you, the orchestra committee of the Art society undertook a spring tour by the orchestra in the months of April and May, 1905, and now present a statement of the result thereof.

The tour was undertaken under a well-considered contract, with Loudon G. Charlton, business agent for Madame Gadski, as manager, and with Madame Gadski as attraction. Being our first enterprise of the kind, and keeping in mind the important fact upon the future engagement of players, we are disposed to be satisfied with the outcome.

The gross receipts upon the tour, from 29 engagements, were $92,744.78, and the total expenses amounted to $35,474.90. Therefore, instead of a deficiency of $5,000, which it was thought might be the result of the tour, the committee is pleased to state that it has amounted to $2,739.13, or an individual liability upon 28 guarantors of $118.70 each, for which remittance should be made promptly to Edward A. Woods, treasurer.

NEW ORGAN ARRIVES.

Work Starts in Installing $25,000 Instrument in First Presbyterian Church.

Work was begun yesterday in taking down the organ temporarily in use in the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue, sections of the new instrument having arrived Saturday and yesterday. The balance of the organ is expected today. It will require several weeks to install the new instrument.

Six months ago a new $25,000 organ ordered for the church was destroyed by fire, and the congregation purchased the old organ of the Bellefield Presbyterian church while the destroyed organ was being duplicated. It had been intended to transfer the old organ to the chapel of the First church, at Forbes and Seneca streets, but the instrument was found to be too large and negotiations are now on to sell it to a congregation in the west.

FIRE IN A COAL MINE THREATENS MANY HOMES

An abandoned coal mine in Dixon's Hollow, near East Pittsburgh, which has been burning for several years, has assumed alarming proportions and threatens to cause considerable damage to a score of houses in the vicinity. The fire has extended nearly a half mile through the pit, and clouds of smoke and fire are issuing from the mouth and the air shaft of the mine. A special meeting of the board of township commissioners will be held this week to devise means of extinguishing the fire before it ignites homes in the vicinity.

COTTON SCANDAL KEEPS GROWING

Ugly Stories Are Floating Concerning Affairs in Agricultural Department.

AN INVESTIGATION WANTED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, July 10.

With greater violence than ever rages the war over the sale of government cotton crop reports to speculators by officials of the department of agriculture.

The latest report is that President Roosevelt is not going to wait for the preference of charges by the Southern Cotton association against the department before taking up the affairs of Secretary Wilson and his subordinates, but is about to order an independent prosecution by the attorney general, and an investigation of the whole department.

Secretary Wilson said today regarding his action in seeking to have the prosecution of persons engaged in cotton report sales confined to Mr. Holmes:

"If the department of justice desires to proceed against this man, all right. It is up to the officials of that department now. All the information that was obtained by the secret service men I submitted to the United States district attorney, who represents the department of justice in the district."

Regarding the controversy between the secretary of agriculture and District Attorney Beach, it can be said that when the matter was laid before him he was told that it was the desire of the secretary to confine the case to Holmes alone. When the secretary was told that Holmes could not be prosecuted in the secret service case he is reported to have said:

"That is what I want."

It is also denied that Mr. Beach had before him all the testimony on which Holmes might be proceeded against.

There is a wide feeling, both in Washington and in New York, that only the surface of the cotton leak scandal has been scratched. There is a belief in Washington that while Holmes sold the information, there were others involved with him, and that these the secretary desires to shield. He desired no more scandal, and he also desired the retention of Mr. Hyde, the chief statistician, who is held by the Southern Cotton association to be chiefly responsible for the leakage of the reports and of the manipulation of crop figures.

What is necessary, in the opinion of well-informed persons, is to get at all the facts in the department and see who else is guilty, and to ascertain why it was that Holmes had full swing in the bureau, although there were others in authority over him.

Meanwhile stories will not down. One of these is that an official in the department is dominated by a woman clerk who has such influence over him that it is the common talk of the department. It is said that on one occasion she threw at his head in his office a small jar of jelly. On another occasion she ordered him out of the room and told him that she would have him removed.

In speaking of the alleged threat of Theodore H. Price to have him arrested for libel unless he retracted, Secretary Wilson today said:

"I have no intention of making any public statement, or private statement either, of the character demanded by Mr. Price and his attorney. I told them so last night, and they knew exactly how I feel about it. Mr. Price asked me yesterday to sign a statement which he himself had prepared and I refused emphatically to oblige him.

In view of the strictures passed upon him by L. G. Van Riper, for alleged breach of confidence and of the criticism of Richard Cheatham, secretary of the Southern Cotton Association, Secretary Wilson had a few gingery remarks to make.

"Why, Van Riper himself filed a statement with the department, which he had sworn to," he said, "which was amplified later by verbal testimony in my office. Furthermore, Mr. Cheatham put us on to Mr. Price, and I fail to see why he should be so put out because the broker's name was mentioned in the report. If these men do not want to get the rough side of my tongue, they had better keep away from my department."

Adverting again to the call of Mr. Price at his home yesterday, Secretary Wilson said:

"I told Mr. Price that I would welcome a libel suit because we would then be able to get at some of the facts which the secret service men had failed to produce. There are doubtless some things about the cotton leak which the investigation did not uncover, and which very probably would come out in court, if a libel suit were begun. As for recovering any of the money which Holmes accumulated through his manipulation of the cotton crop reports, I do not know how it can be done. He did not rob the government of anything, and his ill-gotten gains were the result of helping one set of gamblers against another."

WILL MAKE NO CHANGE.

Secretary Wilson Will Allow No Outsiders Present When Cotton Report Is Made Up.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Secretary Wilson will adhere to the practice now in vogue at the department of agriculture in having only the statisticians, himself or the assistant secretary present when the monthly cotton crop reports are being prepared for publication.

He made this plain today in a dispatch to President R. M. Miller, Jr., of the American Cotton Manufacturers association, now at Charlotte, N. C., who telegraphed the secretary that if the representative of any organization interested in cotton is to appear before the department when the August cotton report is being prepared its organization also desired representation.

DELEGATES TAKE OUTING.

Stage Employes Open Convention, and Are Given Boat Ride.

The 13th annual convention of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes was opened yesterday afternoon at Duquesne gardens, with about 150 delegates attending. President John Suarez of St. Louis presided.

The afternoon session was devoted to hearing and adopting the reports of the secretary and treasurer, Lee M. Hart of Chicago serving in both capacities. At the close of the session the delegates were taken aboard the Island Queen, at the foot of Market street, as the guests of Pittsburgh local No. 3, and given a river ride to the Homestead steel works. After being shown through the plant, the river trip was continued until midnight. Sessions will be held at Duquesne garden each morning and afternoon until Saturday.

Threatens More Strike.

CHICAGO, July 10.—President Donnelly of the packing house teamsters informed International President C. P. Shea this afternoon that a strike of packing house drivers was being considered as a means to check what Donnelly termed the "surreptitious delivery of meat" by the packers to strike-affected firms.

QUESTIONS ARE ASKED BY HUNTERS OF WORDS

Competitors in Popular Contests Provided by The Gazette Seek Information.

Returns in the word hunt contest waged through the advertisements of last Sunday's issue of The Gazette have already been received in large numbers, and while they have not as yet been turned over to examiners there have already been indications of flagrant violations of the rule limiting contestants to the use of one letter but four times in selecting their four words. The rules are very clear on this point and the necessity for obeying them has repeatedly been put forth in these columns and all violators will be compelled to suffer through neglect. The polls close promptly at 9 o'clock on Thursday morning, and returns not received by that hour will not be considered.

"A Contestant" asks three questions as follows: "Are compound words, such as 'Stratford-on-Avon,' admissible in your contests as one word?" "If a contestant wins a prize in one contest, is he eligible in further competitions?" "In last Sunday's Gazette summer resort advertisements were headed by an announcement that The Gazette would furnish information regarding rates, etc., at the various resorts. Would words taken from such announcement be admissible?"

Words used as compound words in advertisements found in the issue of the Gazette, upon the date when the contest is to be waged, will be admissible as one word. Words must be used just as they are found, with the fact always in mind that one letter cannot be used more than four times in the four words selected.

A prize winner in one contest is eligible to compete in other contests. The rule permitting one contestant to draw but one prize applies only to any one particular contest in which a competitor may choose to make two or more returns.

The announcement preceding summer resort advertisements which the writer referred to was in itself an advertisement. It was signed by The Gazette and was decidedly foreign to a news item. Words chosen from it would have been admissible.

"F. M. G. C." asks if words used in one contest are admissible in future contests. They are if they again appear in the paper through which the future contests are waged.

Many complimentary letters have been received from both prize winners and non-prize winners, acknowledging the highest appreciation of the interest, pleasure and educational benefits which the word hunt contests have afforded. As these letters have been too numerous for individual acknowledgment in these columns, The Gazette takes this opportunity to express thanks for the kind sentiments expressed by these writers.

As has been previously announced contestants who might be tied for one or more prizes in the contest now being waged, and in all future contests, will share the prizes for which they are tied, in equal proportion. Hence, if three be tied for first prize they will equally divide the first three prizes. This is made necessary by a ruling by the postal authorities who see an element of chance in awarding prizes to the sender of the earliest returns in case of a tie.

Will Petition for Incorporation.

Another borough is to be added to the list of municipalities in Allegheny county within a short time, the residents of Oak Hill, North Versailles township, directly opposite East Pittsburgh, having decided to petition the courts for the incorporation some day this week. Several mass meetings have been held by the people and all are favorable. Many names have been suggested for the borough, but Kinkaid, in honor of one of the pioneer families in the township, is the one most favored.

The hunt consists of selecting four words from the advertisements appearing in next Sunday's issue of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

6—21—18—14—9—20—21—18—5
F—U—R—N—I—T—U—R—E

It contains nine letters and represents 132 points, whereas, you take the word "Handkerchief."

8—1—14—4—11—5—15—2—8—5—6—5
H—A—N—D—K—E—R—C—H—I—E—F

It contains twelve letters, which only represent 92 points.

Answers must give the words selected, explain from what ad. they were taken and where the ad. is located in the paper. This is necessary to properly check the answers.

COWBOYS BATTLE WITH DETECTIVES

Fierce Fight With Wild West Show Employes Cost Three Their Lives.

MORE TROUBLE LOOKED FOR

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., July 8.—In the pitched battle between a dozen cowboys and Mexicans belonging to Texas Bill's Wild West show and Baltimore & Ohio railroad detectives at Cowen, Webster county, Sunday evening, three cowboys were killed, four were injured and one was placed in jail at Camden. The trouble started over an insult to a woman on the train by a flute player in the circus band, who, in company with Mexican Bill, was on the excursion train when it returned from Richwood. This man was arrested by Detective Powell and taken off the train at Camden. His companion grew abusive and when Cowen was reached, feeling secure in the knowledge that his companions were near, Mexican Bill jumped off and began to hurl rocks at the officers. They closed in on him and he sought refuge in the show car, but was dragged out. The remainder of the gang swooped down on the coach in which he was held prisoner. A bloody encounter followed.

Texas Bill (William Johnson) the owner of the show, was shot by one of his companions who was trying to kill Powell. Another of the raiding party was killed by a bullet through the throat, and still another was killed beneath the train in an endeavor to cut off the three rear cars to effect the rescue of the prisoners within the last car. Mexican Bill, who caused all the trouble, was brought here last night but returned to Cowen today.

Detective Powell, Constable Lee Coffman, Baltimore & Ohio Police Captain Kerns and seven men went to Cowen today to place under arrest the remainder of the gang. Authorities at Burnesville state that there are four in the hospital at Cowen in addition to the three killed and the one brought here. Further trouble is expected.

Trainmen coming from the neighborhood of the trouble, this evening, state that the remainder of the cowboys, 12 in number, were taken into custody this afternoon by a force of 20 men, headed by Capt. Kerns of the Baltimore & Ohio police. It is impossible to confirm this information, as there is no telephone communication with Addison, the county seat of Webster county, where the men are supposed to have been taken.

NEW CHECKWEIGHMAN PROVOKES RIOTING

Italians Out-Vote Americans in the Election—Six Italians Are Under Arrest.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

McDONALD, PA., July 10.—(Special.)—Six Italians are in the lockup here following a clash at the Cherry Valley mines yesterday which resulted from the election of a checkweighman who had been employed at the mines but three days. Last week Antonio Lassari, an Italian, arrived from Chicago and at a meeting of the miners on Saturday he was elected checkweighman, although the rules of the union require that a checkweighman shall have been employed at the mine for at least three months.

Lassari's election was accomplished through the fact that the Italians greatly outnumbered the Americans at the mine. The election caused bitterness and an incipient riot started yesterday. The Italians are said to have been the aggressors. Guns were drawn, but no shots were fired and no one was hurt. The authorities here were notified of the situation and this afternoon Burgess R. D. Conley and Chief of Police Patrick Smith went out to the mines and arrested six of the leaders in the trouble. They will receive hearings on charges of rioting tomorrow before Burgess Conley.

GOVERNMENT HAS LOST MILLIONS IN CONTRACTS

Loose Ways of Doing Business at Schuylkill Arsenal Said to Be Responsible.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—The Public Ledger tomorrow will say that work on 200,000 dress coats, contracted for through the Schuylkill arsenal here, has been stopped by a peremptory order of Quartermaster General Humphrey in Washington, and that a thorough investigation of the affairs at the arsenal has been begun.

Continuing, the Ledger will say:

"Because of conditions under which contracts are given out at the arsenal nearly half of the dress coats in question have been manufactured and paid for. They lie idle in the storehouse at the depot, and in the opinion of experts of the government who have examined them, are absolutely worthless for the purpose they were made. A contract for about 200,000 pairs of dress trousers is in the hands of manufacturers. Stoppage on this work also is expected within a few days. It is believed that the investigation which has been started will show that the government has lost to the extent of millions of dollars by the methods in vogue here. The colossal losses are attributed to loose ways of doing business.

"The investigation is the outcome of the trouble with arsenal employes dating back to last winter and of the more recent scandal, when the foreman of the arsenal was forced to resign and eight cutters were dismissed.

"Suggestions of irregularities and sinister influences in connection with the contract for army clothing were aired last December when, at the order of President Roosevelt, work was once more given to hundreds of seamstresses."

SOLD THE HOMESTEAD BECAUSE OF TRAGEDY

Aged Lance Trio Give Up Dwelling on Account of Robberies and Shooting of Robber.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER, PA., July 10.—(Special.)—The Lance homestead, the scene of several robberies, culminated in the shooting of Arthur S. Harris, an alleged robber, by William McKendry, last January, has been sold by James, Abram and Sally Lance to Herman Straub of Pittsburgh, for $15,000. The farm comprised 500 acres and is the largest single tract in Beaver county.

A large portion is but partially cleared and was used for pasture. In the heart of the tract a mile from one road and a mile and a quarter from another, is the Lance cabin, in which the aged trio lived all their lives until the recent robberies and shooting made them dread the place so that they forsook their home ties of fourscore years and moved to the village of Clinton, just within the Allegheny county line, four miles from their home.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON CITY RULES

General Republican Conference Committee is to Take Up Question This Week.

WILL NOT DELAY REVISION

There will be a meeting this week of the Republican committee having in charge the revision of the rules. The conference is called by Chairman W. A. Magee, Jr., to take up the question of party laws for the government of the three city organizations.

The meeting will be held Thursday or Friday. It is the intention to act without delay in the revision of the rules for the cities. This feeling seems to exist in all quarters, and there is no apparent opposition to a general plan of revision. It is the hope of Chairman Magee to have about the same rules adopted in the three cities that will be offered to the county committee at its meeting in the Bijou theater Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Magee says if there is a change of the basis of representation in the Pittsburgh city committee, it will be along district lines and not on the Republican vote. At present there are three committeemen from each ward, regardless of the size of the ward or its voting strength. This gives a committee of 117 members. If the new apportionment is to allow a member from each precinct, there will be a membership of 247. The representation from each ward follows:

Wards.	Members.	Wards.	Members.
2	3	22	7
3	3	23	14
4	2	24	5
5	3	25	6
6	3	26	5
7	4	27	5
8	5	28	3
9	3	29	3
10	2	30	5
11	10	31	8
12	6	32	1
13	14	33	2
14	16	34	8
15	4	35	4
16	10	36	3
17	11	37	2
18	7	38	1
19	16	39

In the new county rules there is a provision that county committeemen in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport shall be elected under the rules of the Republican organization in these cities. It happens there is no reference in the McKeesport rules to the election of county committeemen, they having always been chosen under the county rules. This was brought out yesterday by Col. W. E. Thompson. Mr. Magee said the committee included McKeesport in the provision to place it on an equal footing with Pittsburgh and Allegheny. He says the reference to McKeesport will be stricken out.

FAIRMAN'S BOSTON BAND PLEASES PATRONS AT LUNA

Stephen Foster Program Is Arranged for Friday Night—Baby Incubator Christening.

Again last night was Luna park the center of attraction for the vast army of amusement seekers in Pittsburgh. Adgie and her lions were as favorably received as on the occasion of her first appearance at Luna, and the act went with much spirit and dash. Hardy, the American Blondin and champion wire walker of the world, who had made such a pronounced success last week, performed on his high wire and won the plaudits of the spectators. Fairman's Boston Concert band was as pleasing as any musical offering yet made at Luna. Prof. Fairman announced that on Friday night he would dedicate his concert to the memory of Stephen C. Foster, during which the many compositions of this favorite author will be rendered.

There will be a double christening in Luna's Incubator hospital on Thursday morning next. The smallest infant in the world, weighing only two pounds four ounces, will be baptized into the United Presbyterian faith, and another infant, a Cleveland product, will be received into the Roman Catholic faith. This double christening will be the first yet held in the new hospital.

THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., July 10.—The Ohio river continued to rise at Cincinnati today, and at 6 o'clock tonight reached a stage of 15.9. The George Matthewson, which was recently inspected and put in commission, left for Madison today with a tow. The Winifrede is due Tuesday, from the Kanawha river. The Henry M. Stanley, which was due back from Charleston Sunday night, did not arrive till late today, the big crowd of Cincinnati excursionists on it being out one day longer than was contemplated. The delay was occasioned by fog and heavy business at way landings. Cool and cloudy.

DOING HEAVY BUSINESS.

Every Boat Is Fully Loaded With Passengers and Freight.

The stage of water at Davis island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 5.8 feet and the river was falling.

The steamer Kanawha, from Charleston, arrived yesterday morning on one of the most successful trips in her history. She carried over 200 passengers on the trip up, and 120 of these were taken to East Liverpool. About 75 were round-trip passengers to this city.

The Keystone State, due here Sunday night, did not arrive until about 5 o'clock last night. She broke a shaft Sunday while near Wheeling. It being Sunday, no one was there to have any repairs made, and the accident forced her to lay up for about 20 hours. She went out again last night as soon as she discharged her cargo, which was a heavy one.

The Columbia arrived down from Morgantown yesterday. On her trip up Saturday the entire boat was taken up with excursionists, and it was the record-breaking trip of the season. She also had a good trip up yesterday.

The Ben Hur arrived from Parkersburg Sunday evening with about 20 head of horses, some other live stock and a cabin full of passengers. She left yesterday at noon.

No more coal was shipped yesterday, as the rivers were receding rapidly. The little rise proved an unexpected boon to the steamers, and about 3,000,000 bushels of coal went out on it. The harbor is now being filled with loaded craft to await the next rise.

Charge Devine With Larceny.

John Devine of 9 German square, South Side, was arrested yesterday on a charge of larceny. Devine had been arrested July 4 as a suspicious person, and was sentenced Tuesday to jail. At that time it was alleged he had taken a lot of brass from the Oliver mills. The information for larceny is made by an officer of the mills.

CHINESE MASONS DEDICATE HOME

Noisy and Enthusiastic Demonstration Consecrates Blue Lodge Quarters.

GODS TAKE IN CELEBRATION

With a notice posted on the front door signed by Superintendent of Police Alexander Wallace to the effect that "Mr. Chee Kong Tong" had permission to "hold a house warming," the Chinese Blue lodge of Free Masons dedicated their building at No. 513 Second avenue last night with an enthusiasm that could be heard a half mile away. Upward of $1,000 worth of fireworks, almost exclusively in the shape of cannon crackers, were consumed before an audience of 5,000 people who thronged Second avenue from curb to curb.

From two windows on the top and third floor of the building were extended beams from which hung huge ropes of crackers, strung the full length of the building to the ground, where they were lighted. As soon as one rope was exhausted willing hands supplied another and by this means an incessant fusillade was kept up from 7 until 9:45 o'clock. Meanwhile Chinamen were pacing the stairways of the building in droves, carrying out armsful of ammunition to assist in the demonstration. Occasionally these consignments caught fire on the stairs from lights which were carried and the explosions that followed merely delayed traffic for a time.

Notwithstanding the fact that the noise on the street was deafening, an ambitious orchestra equipped with tin pans and other devices of torture shaped as drums held forth on the third floor. On this floor was located a trinity of gods neatly painted on canvas. Before them the ceiling was draped in rich silks from which swung magnificent lamps and lanterns, and urns bearing burning incense. Canopied tables stood before these idols, upon which were placed spices, grain of all kinds, and wondrous varieties of delicacies. In a corner beside the sanctuary of the gods was a small, canopied box, rich in decorations of red, in the midst of which hung a taper lamp and bowl of burning incense. It was explained that this device served to drive off any spell of "hoodoo" which former tenants might have left behind.

Previous to the demonstration a banquet was held in the restaurant of Soy Jin Low, No. 512 Grant street. The distinguished guests were Grand Master Quong Ming, head of the order in America, who resides in San Francisco, Second Grand Master Wooly Wing of Cincinnati, and Adolph Metz, police sergeant at Central station. Among the non-Chinese present were Attorney A. H. Mercer, I. W. Morrow and Drs. Winter and Milligan. Mayor Hays, who had been invited, sent regrets.

The banquet was a magnificent affair consisting of 17 courses of both Chinese and American dishes. Addresses were made in Chinese by Grand Master Ming and Second Grand Master Wang. Sergeant Metz was prevailed upon to make an address and opinions differ as to whether it was in Chinese, English or German.

The Pittsburgh Chinese Blue lodge, Free and Accepted Masons was organized one year ago and now has a membership of 250. Up to the present it has met in one room of the three-story building dedicated last night. The officers are: Hong Lee, Wong Quon Chu, Luke Ni Chon and Lee Heung Yee.

During the celebration one of the lighted ropes of firecrackers fell into a box containing 50,000 crackers. The explosions that followed recalled the taking of Port Arthur, and during the melee, William Marie, a Mexican Indian, attempted to beat out the exploding crackers. He is in the Homeopathic hospital nursing a painfully burned face and scorched hands.

Presbyterian Mission Board Is Investigating the Mt. Lebanon Field.

At the final meeting of the year of the Pittsburgh Presbyterial Mission board, held yesterday, it was decided to erect a tent in the Mt. Lebanon district today, and conduct a meeting each night this week for the purpose of determining whether the field is ready for the establishment of a congregation. The Rev. Drs. W. R. Farmer and W. S. Fulton will address these meetings, and on Sunday next an investigation will be made to decide the advisability of organizing a congregation.

Residents of the Mt. Lebanon district recently petitioned presbytery to use its efforts in establishing a congregation, and declared that sufficient support would rally about such effort. Should the investigation prove the need of a new congregation the mission board will not take action until its next meeting in September.

"HELLO BILL" HAS WAKENED BUFFALO

Antlered Hosts Are Now in Complete Possession of Every Part of the Bison City.

KENTUCKY HAS WATER WAGON

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM JOHN P. COWAN, Staff Correspondent.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 10.—"Hello, Bill!" Forty thousand Elks in Buffalo's crowded streets tonight have shouted this familiar greeting 40,000 times, and it has set the air ajar.

"Hello, Bill!" It will be heard again tomorrow in an irresistible tumult, when Robert B. Brown, the Kentucky editor, will be unanimously elected grand exalted ruler at the formal opening of the annual session of the Elks grand lodge. It will be heard when the enthusiasts from Denver secure next year's convention for their city, perched "a mile high" among the peaks of the Rockies. It will be heard when Pittsburgh makes known its wish for the big gathering of 1907.

"Hello, Bill!" The robust greeting rang from lip to lip in the great stream of humanity which fills the streets of the city. The newsboys have taken up the cry, and the talking machines have been provided with records, which punctuate the reproduction of the song, the story or the band concert with "Hello, Bill!"

It is a shout that fittingly accompanies the pranks which the Allegheny county members are playing at their headquarters at the Mansion house.

Exalted Ruler George W. Allen of No. 11 said the words when he was about to retire this morning, and discovered that some wag had tacked a board of health smallpox warning upon his door.

"Hello, Bill!" It's no wonder that consternation was caused when it was observed that a bunch of Alleghenians from No. 339 had a long piece of Troy Hill rope dangling from their window, and, what was worse, the weather man had predicted cloudy weather.

"Hello, Bill." This is what Chief of Police Bull exclaimed when he was told that two unsuspecting Western Pennsylvanians had lost $50 apiece through the deftness of pickpockets last night while the visitors were trying to satisfy themselves as to whether Buffalo is really as large as its people claim. Fortunately the men who lost their wallets have taken their ill-luck with the true Elks philosophy.

"Hello, Bill." When the Hoboken lodge marched into town the jolly slogan was mingled with the somewhat embarrassing query: "Say, Hoboken, why don't you get annexed to the United States?"

"Hello, Bill." It will be given peculiar and pathetic emphasis when a Kansas lodge turns out in Wednesday's parade with a mule propelled water wagon without a driver or passengers.

Those who have tumbled off will form a melancholy procession in the rear of the deserted vehicle.

"Hello, Bill." When the fair sponsors of the Blue Grass lodges drove in open carriages behind a band that struck up "She Was Bred in Old Kentucky," the shout was given in a high key, but when the Louisville headquarters offered only lemonade and punch, Brother Elks moaned sadly:

"Hello, Bill." But there was a colonel handy who was clothed with plenipotentiary powers which he exercised with the rare discretion of the Kentuckian.

"Hello, Bill." At midnight the brilliantly illuminated streets are crowded with a riotous throng of sightseers and merrymakers. It is the biggest and jolliest assemblage that Buffalo ever saw and among the grand lodge reunions it will be ever memorable among those who are adding their voices to the continuous din.

"Hello, Bill."

The report of the board of governors of the National home of Elks at Bedford City, Va., recommends its discontinuance or a change of rules of admission. It says:

"If the present rules of admission are adhered to it does not seem advisable to continue the operation of so large a plant for so few residents, now numbering only 20. As a business proposition the men could be more economically cared for by placing them in a private institution."

In regard to the work of the board the report says:

"Under the resolutions creating the board of governors it is clothed only with clerical and routine duties. The present board of governors sees little use of a continuation of its status. Its duties could be discharged by the board of grand trustees at first hand and the grand lodge saved the cost of the meetings of the board of governors."

The Pittsburgh lodge is working hard to land W. W. McClelland of their city on the board. Grand Treasurer John K. Tenor of Charleroi, Pa., said his report to the grand lodge, which would be submitted Tuesday, would show the order to be in splendid financial condition.

To Arrange for Convention.

The Negro Business league of the Pittsburgh district will meet in the First Baptist church, Sixth avenue, Braddock, tonight, to arrange for a convention of negro business men to be held in Pittsburgh in September.

COUNSEL DO NOT APPEAR TO OPPOSE NEW CHARTERS

Protestants Against the Incorporation of Street Car Companies Through Sewickley Valley Are Not Represented at the Hearing.

To all appearances, the opposition to the six new connecting street car lines through the Sewickley valley from Ben Avon to Ambridge has been abandoned. At the hearing on the granting of the charters held yesterday in Harrisburg by Corporation Clerk Whitworth, counsel for the parties who had protested the granting of the charters did not appear.

If the lines are to be opposed further, the opposition will come apparently after the charters have been granted. The fact a contract was let yesterday for the line from Economy to Baden, in the same system, makes it appear that the interests behind the plans are sure of their ground.

The attorneys for the protestants, W. C. Farnsworth of Harrisburg and James S. Campbell of Pittsburgh, were in Harrisburg yesterday, but did not put in an appearance at the state department, where the hearing was to have been held at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Campbell returned to Pittsburgh on the afternoon train.

George M. Hosack of Pittsburgh, counsel for the new traction interests, appeared before Mr. Whitworth and argued briefly in support of the application. Mr. Whitworth reserved his decision. The new companies are as follows:

The Ambridge, Edgeworth & Sewickley, the Ambridge, Sewickley & Osborne, the Ambridge, Haysville & Glenfield, the Ambridge, Glenfield & Dixmont, and the Ambridge, Dixmont & Emsworth.

Mr. Hosack also appeared in favor of the charter application of the Ambridge, Leetsdale & Edgeworth Street Railway Company, against which a protest has also been filed.

PRINCETON'S EX-PITCHER LOOKS LIKE A STAR FOR PIRATES

PIRATES LOSE WARM CONTEST

FANS ROAST THE UMPIRE

Had Manager Clarke started yesterday's game between the Pittsburgh and Chicago teams with Homer Hillebrand in the box, his team would more than likely have had another victory to its credit, instead of a 4 to 1 defeat, for which Charley Case must stand the blame. The Pirates got home from their successful western trip and signalized their return by a defeat before a crowd of 4,805 bas ball lovers.

Case has been doing such consistently good work for the past month that Manager Clarke, who was anxious to show the local patrons a victory in the stop over game decided to give the Utopia boy the chance for fame. Case got a good start and for two innings held the Cubs safe, but in the next two the visitors got their bats to work and the ball was pounded to all parts of the field with the result that four runs were scored. The hitting of the visitors in the third and fourth innings was terrific and that more runs were not chalked up was due to good fielding.

At the conclusion of the fourth inning Manager Clarke sent Hillebrand out to warm up, and when the ex-Princeton boy took up the burden in the fifth inning he was given a warm greeting. This did not prove to be the wrong thing, for the exhibition put up by Homer was the sort that shows Manager Clarke's judgment in holding to the player and developing him into a twirler was the proper thing, and that the Pirates have in him the making of a star pitcher. In the five innings that Hillebrand officiated the visitors secured but one hit, a single in the ninth inning by Kling, and that was the only ball driven out of the infield during the youngster's term of duty.

Hillebrand is a left hander with speed, control and curves. He also has a good cool head, and never for a moment showed that he was not able to take the best of care of himself. He struck out five of the visitors' best batsmen, and his control was shown by the fact that he allowed but one base on balls. It was stated in the sporting extra of the Chicago Daily Record-Herald that Manager Clarke intends to use Hillebrand as a pitcher during the eastern trip, and if he can only keep up the work he showed yesterday then he will be one of the best twirlers on Clarke's staff.

Next to Hillebrand the local fans were interested in Dave Brain, the new man secured from the St. Louis team, and when he appeared at bat he was given a reception that must have made him feel that he was among friends. In the field Brain handled himself like a star, and some of the chances sent his way were hard ones to handle, but he got them all right and shot the ball over to first base like a rifle shot. At bat Brain did not get a hit, but he smashed the ball good and hard every time. The Chicago fielders played deep for him and managed to pull down his bids for long hits.

The game was played on a field that was almost enveloped in darkness owing to the rain clouds, and in the first inning there was a downfall that forced the umpire to call time. The rain beat down for five minutes, then let up and the contest was continued. Umpire Rauswine, who officiated, got himself into disfavor with the fans by giving the Pirates the worst end of two close decisions at first base, and after that every decision made was questioned by the more rabid spectators. In the Pirates' half of the ninth inning it grew very dark and when the umpire called the game with but one out to make it seven and a scorching by the crowd. At that time it looked as though the game could have been finished.

Case started trouble for himself in the third inning when he passed Weimer, the first batter up, to base on balls. Slagle followed with a single and both runners advanced on a fly out and scored when Hoffman doubled to middle field. Evers opened the fourth with a single to right and was advanced on a sacrifice by Casey. Kling made good with a three-base drive to middle field which Clarke got under but could not hold. This hit scored Evers. Kling was caught between third and home on a drive by Weimer, Weimer was safe on the play and scored when Slagle drove the ball to deep right for three bases.

The Pirates' only run was scored by Howard in the sixth, which he opened with a three-bagger to left, went to third on Brain's fly out, and scored on a single by Ritchey, who is generally on hand with a hit when it is most needed. Weimer, who pitched for the visitors, got off with a lucky game as his curves were hit good and hard, but his support helped him out, the Cubs putting up a sensational fielding game. Howard at second was the star of the afternoon, some of the plays made by him being of the most sensational kind. Slagle also made a couple of clever catches in middle field. The score:

ALTOONA, July 10.—Danny Friend, former National league star, made his first appearance in the Tri-State, and was batted hard in the first three innings. His support, too, was rather inconsistent, a combination of the two made Altoona an easy victor. The local team played superior ball all through the contest, the work of the infield being exceptionally good. Score:

WAYNESBURG TEAM IS SHUTOUT BY BRADDOCK

Sweeny's Pitching Was Too Much for Milt Montgomery's Players, Who Fail to Hit.

The Edgar Thomson Works team yesterday defeated the Waynesburg team 3 to 0, in a pretty contest in which both teams fielded their respective positions in fine form. Pat Sweeney was on the rubber for the Edgar Thomson Works team, and pitched in masterly styles, and John Yeedt was doing this work for Waynesburg, but he got a bad start, and the lead could not be overcome by the Waynesburg players.

Sandherr, at short for Braddock, played a sensational game, and it was due to several stops and throws he made that prevented the visiting team from scoring in two innings. One of the features of the game in the batting line was the home run of Davis, who played second. With a man on base in the first inning, he picked out a nice one and drove it over the centerfield fence for four sacks. The hit was the longest seen on the grounds this year.

Unrue and Brisbine, for the Edgar Thomson works team, batted well, as did Conoway, for Waynesburg. Braddock plays Waynesburg today and Wednesday, and Thursday Sharon will be the attraction at Edgar Thomson park, Braddock. Score:

WAS SCRAPPY GAME.

Homestead Defeats Sharon in Ten Inning Contest—Forkum Was Benched.

Homestead defeated Sharon yesterday at Steel Works Park in a 10-inning game, replete with brilliant plays and kicking. Forkum almost came to blows with the umpire and was benched. Homestead made one run in the third on a pass to Morgan, followed by a three-sacker by Kennoy, and made a run in the fourth on Ferguson's fly out to second. Collins drove him in with a three-bagger. The game stood 2-to-0 until the seventh,

ECONOMY STREET CARS ASSURED

Contracts Are Let for 11,000 Feet of Track to Baden, and Bridge Will Be Built.

PENN AVENUE TRANSACTION

Arrangements are practically concluded for the building of one of the finest street railways in Western Pennsylvania from Economy to Baden. Contracts have been awarded for the laying of the track and bids are being taken on the construction of the bridge over Legionville hollow, which will be the only bridge of consequence on the line. The bridge will be of steel construction, 1,000 feet long and 70 feet high, and wide enough to carry a street 60 feet wide. This street will run straight through the Economy properties and down the Ohio river a distance of 11,000 feet with no dip in the grades. The road will be double tracked and will be laid with girder rails. A double track has already been laid on Fourteenth and Merchant streets in Economy, and one track is down on the Ambridge streets. The road will be operated through Economy and Ambridge by September 1, and will be ready for cars to Baden as soon as the big bridge is completed. If a franchise now pending in the Leetsdale council is granted the work will be continued on to the borough line of Edgeworth this fall, or two miles farther. Applications were made a few weeks ago for charters for street car companies to build and operate street car lines through Leetsdale and Emsworth to connect with the line which the Pittsburgh Railways Company is building in Ben Avon and Emsworth. The new lines will be welcome to the big plants down the Ohio whose employes are now obliged to use the trains or walk. The immense plant of the American Bridge Company at Ambridge is now working overtime and the plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Construction Company at Economy is working double time.

More Dealing Out Penn Avenue.

Most of the dealing in the city seems to be confined to the outer Penn avenue district nowadays. Yesterday 1297 was sold by Isaac Sachs of the Sachs Real Estate Company, to a local speculator for a little over $21,000, which netted Mr. Sachs a profit of $5,000 on less than a year's ownership. The property consists of 26.75x100 feet, situated only 50 feet from Twelfth street, and improved with two old brick houses which are rented for $1,026 a year. Another property near Twelfth street was resold yesterday for a profit of about $3,000, and a third deal will probably be announced today from the same locality.

Hay & Brown, through the Kelly-Wood Real Estate Company, sold for Francis E. McGillick, the builder, to John H. Armstrong, a 12-room reception hall brick house on 60x120 feet in Hampton avenue, near North Highland avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $16,500. In part payment Mr. Armstrong tendered 4731 South Atlantic avenue, Twentieth ward, a 10-room reception hall brick house on 50x150 feet, which was valued at $8,000. Mr. Armstrong will occupy the Hampton avenue house as a home.

Evidence that the "pump" agitation is having a good effect on property values in the side streets as well as in outer Fifth avenue is afforded by the offer of $36,000 which was submitted a few days ago for the McKee holdings at 1014-1016 Wylie avenue. The property measures 44x90 feet, and is on the south side of the avenue next to the Congress street corner. There are two brick stores and dwellings on the lot, which rent for $2,269 a year. The same property was on the market at a much smaller figure last year.

New Station for Economy.

The Pennsylvania lines have accepted the offer of a station site at Economy and will build a handsome station at once on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad. The site includes nearly an acre and is at the end of Merchant street extension at French Point. It extends from the railroad back up the hill to Ohio View avenue, and the side hill will be laid out by the railroad company so as to make attractive grounds for the building. An overhead sidewalk will lead to the in-going trains, and steps will lead up from the station to Ohio View avenue, which is one of the prettiest streets in Economy. Merchant street extension will be improved this fall to make a macadamized driveway from the station to the main part of the town.

Architects MacClure & Spahr are taking estimates on a brick and stone building for the Home for Incurables at Thirty-eighth and Butler streets, to cost $50,000.

Architect M. A. Kretzschmar is taking bids on constructing a three-story brick and stone apartment house in Maryland avenue for Mrs. Jennie M. Kretzschmar to cost $40,000.

C. B. Adelman bought from Walter J. Kelly a residence property 45x120 feet, in Center avenue, near John street, Thirteenth ward, for $16,500.

Dahlia street: The Commonwealth Real Estate Company sold for Ralph Longenecker to Julia K. Kelley, 55x121 feet on the west side of Dahlia street, near Von Lent place, Twentieth ward, for $11,400. The same owner sold to William M. Kennedy 57x142 feet, in Von Lent place, near Dahlia street for $9,500.

Minor Real Estate Deals.

East End avenue: C. G. Mitchell sold for Attorney W. C. Anderson to James D. Hardie a brick house on 40x120 feet, on the east side of East End avenue, near Biddle avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $8,000.

Stanton avenue: J. S. Miller sold to Henrietta Couse an improved lot 35x125 feet, on the north side of Stanton avenue, near Collins avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $3,500.

Greenfield avenue: Mary A. Seymour sold to John Kern an improved lot 32x100 feet, at the northeast corner of Greenfield avenue, near Hoosac street, Twenty-third ward, for $7,300.

Carnegie street: Hugh Oldham sold to Dr. A. M. Barr an improved lot 20x100 feet, in Carnegie street, Eighteenth ward, for $4,600.

Mayflower street: T. W. Dunn sold to Kate E. Hall 24x100 feet in Mayflower street, Twenty-first ward, for $2,650.

Fairmount avenue: R. H. Smith sold to Isabella K. Coffman an improved lot 35x100 feet, in Fairmount avenue, near Broad street, Nineteenth ward, for $2,600.

Homestead is to have another modern business and flat building. The Homestead Lumber Company is to erect it in Eighth avenue, near West street. The building is to be four stories, brick and stone, 75x65 feet. The first floor will contain three storerooms and the other three floors devoted to flats of five and six rooms each. Work on the excavations will be started today. Architect A. G. Wickerham made the plans. The building will cost about $40,000.

SON SAVES HIS MOTHER'S LIFE

SLEUTH MARSHALL ON TRIAL

In the divorce suit of Amalie Kaiser against Conrad Kaiser, the commissioner's report shows how much ill-treatment some women will stand before moving to secure a legal separation. The libellant says she was finally forced to leave her husband. On one occasion, she alleges, he hit her so hard her teeth were knocked out, and on another he hit her on the head with a baseball bat, cracking her skull. Once, she says, her son saved her from abuse at her husband's hands when he chased her with a hatchet. As he was about to strike her, her son threw him to the floor. At another time, she said, her husband attacked her with a knife, but her son again saved her from him. She says her husband has been in prison three times for abusing her.

The son corroborated his mother's story and Mrs. Catherine Keil, a neighbor, testified that one of Kaiser's children took sick and became an idiot, and Kaiser took to drinking and abusing his wife. Mrs. Keil says when three of his children were sick with diphtheria, and one of them died, Kaiser came home drunk.

In the divorce suit of Harry G. Meek against Gertrude C. Meek, Meek tesified that they were married in Altoona, but when he came to Allegheny to take a position there, he said his wife positively refused to leave Altoona.

Detective Charged With Perjury.

L. H. Marshall, an Anti-Saloon league detective, was placed on trial in criminal court, before Judge Evans, on a charge of perjury, made by Daniel A. Malle, a saloonkeeper in East Diamond street, Allegheny. The suit grew out of the last license court hearings, when Detective Marshall is alleged to have sworn falsely against Malle. Marshall, it is alleged, testified that he had visited Malle's saloon on a certain evening and had seen 20 men and eight women in a rear room drinking beer and acting in a disorderly manner. He also claimed to have seen an inmate of a disorderly house come to a rear door and buy five bottles of beer at one time.

The case took up the entire afternoon and was still on trial when court adjourned. Malle had half a dozen witnesses who were in the saloon the night Marshall claimed to have visited the place, testify that he never sold to women and that no disorderly parties had been in the saloon the evening in question.

Walter E. Nelson entered a plea of no defense to four charges of forgery and was sentenced two years to the penitentiary. Nelson was sentenced one year each on the four different indictments, but two of the sentences are to run concurrent. Nelson obtained various sums of money ranging from $8 to $28 from O. J. Vilsack, Charles J. Jaegle, Frank Graunds and J. P. Wright, the prosecutors in the case, by passing forged checks on different banks.

Joseph Cohen, a young storekeeper of Unity, charged with felonious assault and battery by Chief County Detective Robert G. Robinson, pleaded guilty to unlawful wounding and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to serve one day in jail. Cohen shot Joseph Trautman, a 13-year-old boy, whom he mistook for a burglar, the boy being in the rear yard of his store.

Pure Food Cases to Be Heard.

A large list of pure food cases will be heard in quarter sessions court today. The list is as follows: Andrew Wehrle, H. Rosenberger, Sarah Powers, George Karangelore, H. A. Katzenmeyer, two; Jacob Kaufman, Mrs. M. J. Clark, G. H. Callahan, J. P. Cousin, H. Braun et al., M. J. Cunningham, F. M. Carrigan, E. J. Dunn, John Dunlay, D. J. Elder, Charles Estricher and Mart McAdams, William Fisher, O. Green, Charles Gallant, P. A. Hanley, G. B. Henderson, John Huston, J. B. Imhoff, T. A. Jiles, George F. Lonbaugh, J. P. Lawther, P. J. Mallen, Owen McCann and James Cheswright, Fred Preach, John Preach, B. M. Quinn, O. H. Shoemaker, John H. Skelly, William Sheehan and J. J. Cavanaugh, William Sheehan, W. M. Swindler, Thomas Watkins, Harry Watson.

Under an opinion filed by Judge Miller in orphans court Mrs. Michael Hannon, accountant of Michael Hannon, deceased, is surcharged with the appraised value of the good will and unexpired license of a saloon Hannon conducted in Preble avenue, Allegheny, in an account filed by Mrs. Hannon these were estimated at $3,500. In the final accounting she claimed credit for this sum and brought the estate in her debt $688.87. The court says she must be surcharged and that the burden of proving that the appraisement of the unexpired license and good will was excessive was on her. One of the appraisers had had 15 years' experience in the saloon business.

Common pleas court No. 1 has dismissed the exceptions in the suit of G. L. Porter and others against H. G. Sharpnack, an action in a real estate transaction. A decree is granted giving the plaintiff one-half the land in dispute.

The Ninth avenue Livery Company sued George Gallery for $1,000 damages, and had a capias issued for his arrest. The plaintiff avers the defendant hired a rig which he left standing untied. In his absence, it is alleged, the horse ran away and the plaintiff avers the rig was badly damaged.

Suits on Insurance Policies.

Suits on insurance policies were entered by the Colonial Trust Company, receiver of the Rex Filter Manufacturing Company, against the National Insurance Company, the German Fire Insurance Company, the Germania Fire Insurance Company, and the Milwaukee Fire Insurance Company. The amount sued for in each case is $650, except that of the Germania company, from which $1,300 is asked.

The Allegheny County Light Company has sued Lorenzo T. Yoder for $1,000 damages. It is alleged the defendant constructed a sewer near a conduit of the company and, it is alleged, the conduit was cracked by the workmen.

John P. Coyle sued Henry Robinson for $1,000 damages. Coyle lives in West Homestead, and alleges his residence has been damaged by blasting in the defendant's stone quarry.

In the suit in equity of John J. O'Donnell against S. W. Vandersaal and others, to restrain the conveyance of real estate, a demurrer filed by the defendants was sustained and the bill dismissed. The court says it could find no equity upon which the bill could be sustained.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by George Eckert, a blacksmith, of Johnsonburg, Elk county, Pa. He gives his assets as $2,438.21 and liabilities as $13,613.66.

Milton M. Sheesley, a teamster, of Johnstown, Pa., also filed a petition in bankruptcy. Sheesley gives as his sole assets one suit of clothes on his person valued at $15, and his liabilities at $5,065.55.

An opinion was filed by Judge Miller of the orphans court in the suit of Smith Agnew against H. N. Ringwalt, a case he had heard in common pleas No. 2. The litigants were formerly in the insurance business and separated January 1, 1902. Agnew sued for an accounting of partnership funds, and Judge Miller finds he is entitled to $1,615.88, with interest from May 9, 1904. The costs were divided.

Executions issued: R. J. Kingan vs. Charles Riesen, $230; Graham Brothers vs. Joseph Wepler, $135; John Frosic vs. P. Arnolut, $2,170; Monongahela Valley Savings Fund and Loan association, use, vs. August Meyers, $2,354; Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, use, vs. A. E. Benney, $804; E. G. Thompson vs. J. DeKleva, $321.

Shuff Does Some Whispering.

John L. Shuff, of Cincinnati, quietly whispered the name of the man he visited here prior to purchasing his Grant boulevard property into the ear of Commissioner Gamble, who continued taking testimony, at a star chamber session, in the Grant and Liberty Street railway case. The commissioner will as quietly breathe the name into the ear of Judge Buffington, who will then decide whether or not this is public property. Nothing concerning the hearing was given out, as usual.

N. C. STARKEY HAS TO STAY IN JAIL

Tardiness at Murder Trial Gets Sunday Observance Detective in Trouble.

STORY OF KNOX'S DEATH

Nelson C. Starkey, formerly a Sabbath Observance Association detective, who was placed on trial yesterday on a charge of murdering Henry D. Knox, was taught a lesson on the evil of tardiness that he is likely to remember. Because he was three minutes late his bond of $6,000 was all but declared forfeited, and he was placed in custody of a deputy sheriff, and when court adjourned he was sent to jail for the night. His late appearance just saved his bond.

When court adjourned John C. Haymaker, one of Starkey's attorneys, asked that his client be released on bail again. Judge McClung without hesitation said that if the jury could stand being locked up, Starkey could. The jurors were sent to a jury room and Starkey across the stone bridge to jail.

Starkey is being held for the killing of Henry D. Knox on the night of August 30, 1904. He, a brother named H. W. Starkey, and P. F. Gamble, of the Sabbath Observance association, were at a hearing before Alderman Walter Wadsworth of Allegheny, before whom the Starkeys were charged with perjury in connection with a case of selling liquor on Sunday. A large crowd which had gathered followed the three men when they left the office, and after a time stone-throwing began, and the three men ran. Cornered in a store doorway in East Ohio street, Nelson Starkey, it is alleged, drew his revolver and fired three times, one of the bullets causing the death of Knox. The three were arrested, but the grand jury returned a true bill against Nelson Starkey only. He has been out on bail since last November.

Ministers Attended the Trial.

The trial yesterday attracted a large crowd, among the spectators being the Rev. J. T. McCrory, the Rev. C. A. Thurgood and other members of the Sabbath Observance association. Judge McClung and Judge Evans were on the bench while the jury was being drawn, after which Judge McClung took charge of the trial. District Attorney Stewart and John S. Robb, Jr., appeared for the commonwealth, while John S. Haymaker and W. C. Tredway defended Starkey.

In the selection of the jury there was the usual trouble over the points raised concerning the reading of newspaper reports, and scruples about capital punishment. The jury as finally selected and sworn consists of James McKee, retired, Scott township, foreman; Samuel Hough, manufacturer, Tenth ward, Allegheny; Thomas J. McGrath, retired, Wilkinsburg; J. H. Roth, farmer, Forward township; Henry Edils, grocer, Seventh ward; David Fulton, Second ward, McKeesport; A. D. Moody, farmer, Finley township; George H. Cole, farmer, Neville township; Loy H. Collingwood, clerk, Swissvale; Frank E. Baldwin, real estate agent, Homestead; R. H. Burns, farmer, Finley township; D. K. Ewing, farmer, Robinson township.

Mrs. Catherine Knox, widow of the deceased, said she and her husband had been shopping. They had returned home when a man came to see Knox about getting him a better position. They left together about 15 minutes before her husband was shot. Her husband was working as an ice wagon driver, but had been an engineer. Mrs. Knox was a hard witness to handle as she insisted on testifying about matters which did not enter into the case.

Policemen Witnessed the Shooting.

Hugh Hutton, an Allegheny police officer, said he was attracted by a crowd in East Ohio street. He saw the flash of a revolver and heard that a man was shot. Starkey was pointed out as the man who did the shooting and he arrested him. He took a revolver from Starkey which he turned over to the Allegheny police department. He became confused when asked the name of the man he gave it to, saying that they had had so many officers on the force lately that he could not just say to whom he gave the weapon. The revolver was of 32 caliber and contained three empty shells. Hutton did not know Knox and did not see him until he had been taken to a drug store.

When Hutton reached the scene of the trouble, he said, there was considerable excitement. Two or three hundred people were gathered and some were trying to get at Starkey who had taken refuge in a store doorway. Starkey acted very gentlemanly when asked for the revolver and apparently took it from the front pocket of his trousers.

Thomas Gordon, another Allegheny policeman, corroborated Hutton's story in many points. He was standing in East Ohio street and heard a shot. Then he saw the flash of a second shot that seemed to be fired in the air and a third that was fired into the crowd. The crowd had followed Starkey down the street and was after him when he took refuge in the store doorway. The witness arrested H. W. Starkey, brother of the accused. His prisoner was not armed.

Former Coroner Jesse M. McCleary identified the revolver as one given him as N. C. Starkey's. Dr. F. P. Ransom described the wound. Dr. Speer, who assisted in the autopsy, corroborated Dr. Ransom.

Alderman Wadsworth testified that at the conclusion of the hearing of the Starkeys on the perjury charge and after every person had left his office, Gamble and the Starkey brothers rushed into the office. Gamble claimed to have been assaulted. He offered them the services of two constables as an escort and they left in a body. Constable John Mickle said he and Constable Harvey Suter went with Gamble and the Starkeys down Ohio street. One man in the crowd that followed rushed in and attempted to strike one of the Starkeys.

Ran for Their Lives.

The three men then started to run when they reached East street. Mickle said he advised them not to do so but they continued their flight. He was left in the rear and was half a block away when the shooting occurred, but saw the flashes and thought the shots were over the heads of the crowd. Constable Suter corroborated Mickle's testimony.

James G. Simpson, a reporter, testified that he was present at the hearing. After the hearing was over he saw some person strike Gamble with his hat. Gamble and the Starkeys then returned to the alderman's office. When they came out again with the constables and started up the street Gamble, Simpson said, was struck half a dozen times, twice with a blackjack. Simpson said Nelson Starkey was about 15 feet from the crowd when he turned and drew his revolver. He fired once in the air then at the sidewalk and then directly into the crowd. Simpson saw Knox fall, but did not think he was in front of the crowd; he appeared to be against the wall.

John Glenn, acting superintendent of police of Allegheny, said Starkey, when brought to the station house, told him he had shot in self-defense.

Arrangements will be made to communicate with Rear Admiral Sigsbee by wireless telegraph as he approaches the United States.

We're making clothing history

WE are sincere and earnest in our conviction that—character of clothing, satisfactory arrangement of assortments, distinctiveness of style, all around worthiness of the garments, lowness of price, EVERYTHING taken into consideration — since we established our business we have never made a worthier presentation to the men of Pittsburgh. Our purchase of the entire made-up clothing stock of Michaels-Stern & Co., Rochester, N. Y., works out the problem of money-saving on clothing to a most satisfactory solution. No sale has won such country-wide attention so quickly, nor held its enthusiasm so continuously—and this well-grounded fame is due to the fact that

We are selling suits that Michaels-Stern & Co. manufactured to sell at $12.50, $15 and $18 for only $7.65.

Thoughtless buyers will have the truth forced home to them that careless choosing of store and clothes at a time when Michaels-Stern & Company's clothing is being offered at less than 50c on the dollar at Solomon's, is a ruthless waste of money.

We do not believe there is any other line of clothing in existence which so successfully fills the ideals of dressy men as Michaels-Stern's suits.

Put one of Michaels-Stern's garments on your back, examine the fit—look at the linings and general tailoring. Your one-word verdict will be "Faultless."

Enthusiastic? Can't help but be with the clothing before us. Come and try it yourself. Best proof of the pudding, you know, is to emulate Oliver Twist and "keep coming."

Before a Michaels-Stern suit goes on the market it has been through fully two score tailoring operations and nearly sixty different pairs of skilled hands.

Carter Oil Company Gets Good Producers in Yellow Creek Field

In the lower southwest fields the Yellow Creek development, Calhoun county, has furnished another good producer. It is located in the northeast extension of the district and is owned by the Carter Oil Company, and is its No. 4 on the J. E. Snyder farm. The well was drilled into the pay last Saturday night and produced 100 barrels the first 18 hours. The location is 600 feet northeast of No. 2 on the same farm. In the same district the Guaranty Oil Company has the rig completed for a test on the O. Bush farm. On Dolls run, Marion county, the Monongalia Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the J. C. Morris farm and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the Gordon.

In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Company has drilled its test on the James Wade farm through the Gordon and has a light pumper, not good for more than five barrels a day. In the same district the same company has drilled its No. 50 on the B. W. Peterson farm through the Gordon and the hole has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid. It will make a 10-barrel pumper. Near Sedalia, Doddridge county, the Carnegie Natural Gas Company has completed a test on the L. C. Tate farm and has a very good gasser in the Gordon. Near Blacksville, Monongalia county, McDermett & Co. have completed No. 2 on the Sol Myers lot and have a fair gasser in the Big Injun.

On Katy Lick run, Sardis district, Harrison county, the Philadelphia Company has at last succeeded in shutting in its enormous gasser on the Daniel L. Ash farm. When tested the well showed a rock pressure of 850 pounds and through the 5½-inch casing the capacity of the well was estimated to be between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 cubic feet a day. This is by far the strongest gas pressure that any well ever drilled in the state showed, not excepting the Big Moses, drilled by the Devonian Oil Company some six or eight years ago. About five years ago the South Penn Oil Company drilled a gasser on the McConaghy farm that showed a capacity of 25,000,000 cubic feet a day. The roaring of the escaping gas at the Philadelphia Company's Ash farm well was almost deafening within a radius of several hundred yards of the well. No effort was made to confine the escaping gas until the casing had been securely anchored.

In the Ritchie Mines district, Ritchie county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 6 on the J. W. Marshall farm into the salt sand and has a show for an eight-barrel pumper. It is still drilling. In the Sens Run district, Pleasants county, the Tyler Oil Company has completed its No. 25 on the A. J. Doty farm and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the Cow Run sand. The South Penn Oil Company in the same district has completed No. 3 on the E. H. Flower farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the same formation.

On Salem Fork, Ten Mile district, Harrison county, Charles Randolph & Co. have drilled their test on the W. B. McKinley farm through the Gordon and the hole has filled up 500 feet with fluid. It will make a very light pumper.

On the Ohio side in the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, the Tecumseh Oil and Gas Company's No. 17 on the Ruth A. Chapman farm, which was drilled the last Friday, and produced 210 barrels the first 24 hours, has dropped to 120 barrels a day, as shown by the last gauge. In the Lowell district, in the same county, the Red Fox Oil Company has drilled in its No. 7 on the William Rothfuchs farm and has a show for a 20-barrel producer. Near Joy, Morgan county, the Midland Company has completed its No. 25 on the J. B. Jones farm and has a duster in the shallow sand. Three-fourths of a mile south of the Adams well, in Harrison county, the Clear Fork Oil Company has completed a test on the W. C. Adams farm and has a show for a five-barrel pumper in the upper sand.

In the fourth sand development, west of Tiadaghton, the Southern Oil Company has drilled its test on the Ihmsen heirs' farm and has added another duster to the list of that deceptive pool. The Ihmsen farm is located a half or three-quarters of a mile northeast of the McBride gusher, on about a 45 degree line. It was expected that this would be a producer until the No. 2 Waldron came in and failed to show commendable staying qualities. With the completion of the test on the Ihmsen farm the last chance for extending the pool has gone glimmering. The Southern Company paid a bonus of $8,000 for the Ihmsen farm. The location looked good, but the pool being congested, did not reach that far, and the result was a duster. The Southern Company will start no more work in the pool. Had no other wells been drilled the McBride gusher in time would have taken out all of the oil.

MONOPOLY ENDS AT PANAMA PORTS

Commissioner Bristow Recommends Drastic Improvements on the Isthmus.

WILL WORK CHANGES IN RATES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—The report of Joseph L. Bristow, who was appointed a special commissioner to investigate trade conditions and other matters affecting the Panama Railroad & Steamship Company, was made public today. The report discusses from several points of view the question of what policy should be pursued by the government in the management of the railroad, and makes a number of important recommendations. Among these are the continuance of the railroad as a commercial line with improved facilities for handling commerce, including double-tracking and re-equipping the line with modern rolling stock; the enlargement of its port facilities; the retention of the steamship line between New York and Colon; the cancellation of the contracts with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the South American lines and the opening of the port of Colon and Panama to all steamship lines on equal terms; and in certain contingencies the establishment by the railroad of steamship lines between Colon and gulf ports and Panama and important United States Pacific coast ports. It is also recommended that in traffic connections American steamship lines be favored as far as consistent with the treaty obligations of the United States.

Investigated Complaints.

Mr. Bristow spent several months in his investigation, visiting the Isthmus of Panama, important ports on the western coast of Central America, the Isthmus of Tehauntepec, Mexico, and the Pacific coast of the United States. His report reviews the entire history of the railroad and discusses allegations that its local freight and passenger charges were excessive and its traffic contracts with steamship lines monopolistic. In his report Mr. Bristow says:

At the time this investigation began complaints had been made that the railroad's local freight and passenger charges were excessive, that it had traffic contracts with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, and with two South American lines, that were monopolistic in their character and injurious to commerce; that it had maintained only poorly for its own steamers on the Atlantic side.

That shipments via Panama were carelessly handled, resulting in heavy loss by damage and theft; that owing to lack of facilities there was a congestion of freight on the Isthmus; that commercial business was made secondary to canal business, greatly to the injury of commerce.

The Pacific Mail Contract.

The contract with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company gave it the exclusive privilege of through bills of lading to and from all Pacific ports north of Panama, and that company agreed to give through bills of lading only via the Panama railroad. Both parties agreed to co-operate in the making of rates and in protecting each against competition from other steamship lines.

Representatives of the Central American countries of Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Guatemala complain that the Pacific Mail steamship monopoly is injurious to commerce and is an impediment to commerce between their respective countries and the United States, and that there is discrimination in rates in favor of Europe as against the United States.

The rate on coffee from Central American countries to New York is in every instance less than that to Europe. On hides and skins, however, the rate to New York is higher than to Europe. The rates by the Straits of Magellan are cheaper than via Panama; but, considering the time and marine insurance, as a rule it seems to be advantageous to Central American shippers to utilize the Panama in preference to the straits route, as about 70 per cent of the products of these countries are shipped by Panama.

A Benefit to Country.

R. P. Schwerin, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, asserts that the contract between his company and the Panama Railroad Company is beneficial to Central American commerce; that the steamship company has maintained a regular weekly schedule between San Francisco and Panama, and has afforded every facility for the movement of traffic that could be offered by any steamship line; that if the contract is canceled, as requested by the Central American representatives, competing lines will enter the field and divide the freight so that no one will get sufficient business to justify the maintenance of a regular schedule.

After carefully considering the inconveniences and delays in receiving and discharging cargo at the Central American ports, the rates charged, and facilities furnished by the Pacific Mail, it appears that the service of that company has been good, the rates reasonable, and that the complaints of the Central American representatives are not well founded.

Don't Want Business.

Complaint is made by the chamber of commerce of the Pacific coast ports of the United States that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company is controlled by the transcontinental railroads, and that it operates so as to discourage commerce via Panama between Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States.

After carefully considering the statements made by the commercial bodies of the Pacific coast, the statement of Mr. Schwerin and other data, it clearly appears that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company has made little effort to secure business between the Pacific and Atlantic ports of the United States. Mr. Schwerin says that there is not sufficient business at the ports other than San Francisco to justify ships stopping.

This is vigorously controverted by the shippers and chambers of commerce of these cities. At San Diego it was stated that the week ending March 11 a vessel of the American-Hawaiian line brought to that port via Magellan 3,000 tons of miscellaneous merchandise. Statistics furnished by the various chambers of commerce show that there is a large volume of business which could be moved by Panama if facilities existed to secure reasonable rates. The character of the Panama route is such that certain articles can be shipped that way much cheaper than by rail across the continent.

Congestion of Business.

Complaints as to the congestion of business and the injury to commerce resulting therefrom also appear to be justified. While I was at Colon and Panama a larger amount of freight was being landed there than the railroad could properly handle, and at the same time attend to the pressing work of the canal commission. Since that time the congestion seems to have increased, and within the last month there has been bitter complaint on this account. The government is under just as great obligations to handle promptly and efficiently the cargo intrusted to its care as it is to press the work of canal construction, and every effort should be made by the Panama railroad not only to fulfill its obligations to the canal commission, but to commerce as well.

Under the concessions from the Colombian government, the Panama railroad was given the exclusive right to construct a telegraph line across the Isthmus. The rate formerly charged for messages was $1 for every ten words and 10 cents for each additional word. Complaint was made that this charge was excessive, and on February 1, 1905, it was reduced to 25 cents for 10 words and 2½ cents for each additional word.

Management of Road.

The question as to what policy should be pursued by the government in the management of the railroad should be considered from three points of view:

First—Should the railroad be closed to commerce and be used as a construction road for canal work?

Second—Should it be used as a construction and commercial road, making commerce incidental and secondary to canal work?

Third—Should it be used not only as a construction road, but also as a commercial line to the fullest capacity?

Referring to the first proposition, this railroad has been operated as a commercial line for 50 years, it has served as a link connecting the commerce of the two oceans, and during that time hundreds of thousands of tons of merchandise have been annually transported across the Isthmus, and it would be of great injury to the commerce, not only of our country, but of Central and South America and of Europe, to close this route, and I do not think such a policy should be given consideration.

The second proposition—namely, that its commercial status be maintained, and that commerce be handled only as the railroad has many adherents. They state that it is not the business of the United States government to engage in a commercial enterprise or to conduct a transportation company, but that, since the government came into possession of this road as an incident of its purchase of the canal property from the French, it may be well to continue its commercial status with the present facilities, but that the government should not in any way enlarge them.

The third proposition, that, since the government is required to operate this road as a commercial line, it ought to improve its facilities so as to make it of the greatest possible benefit to commerce, is the one most generally approved by the shipping public.

Should Improve the Road.

The relation that the Panama railroad sustains to commerce is different from that of any other transportation company. The United States government is constructing a canal across the Isthmus of Panama at very heavy expense, and the benefit that will accrue to commerce is one of the principal reasons for undertaking this great enterprise.

If the United States is justified in expending a large amount of money for the construction of a canal for the benefit of commerce, then it is justified, pending the construction of the canal, in operating this railroad for the same purpose. And since it is necessary to operate the road, its facilities should be improved so as to enable it to handle commerce in the most efficient manner.

It is estimated by the engineers that it will be from ten to fifteen years before the canal can be opened for use, and, in the meantime, the railroad must perform, in so far as a railroad can, the commercial functions of the canal. The operation of this railroad is no more in competition with private enterprise than the construction and operation of the canal are in competition with private enterprise; and, if products can be transported between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts at less cost by this line than by any other, then commerce should receive the benefit of this route.

Disposition of Steamships.

The question as to what should be done with the steamships is more perplexing than what policy should be pursued in the management of the railroad; but it must be borne in mind that the government will have a very large amount of its own freight to transport to the Isthmus during the next 10 years. If it should sell the ships and discontinue the line, as advocated by some, it would have to depend upon private enterprise for its freight, passenger and mail service, and, in this era of combinations, it would not be difficult for steamships to enter into an agreement and charge excessive rates.

It has been suggested in this connection that the government should make a contract at special rates for its canal business, but the character of the freight, the amount required, and time when it will have to be transported are problematical, and it is not practicable to anticipate this business with sufficient accuracy to enable steamship lines to bid intelligently or to justify the government in now making a contract for its transportation.

The commercial cities on the gulf are exceedingly anxious to have a regular steamship service between gulf ports and Colon, and it clearly appears that not only the interests of commerce, but those of the government, require the establishment of such a service. Its effort should, therefore, be made to induce some American company to establish a line of freight and passenger steamers between gulf ports and Colon.

Strong Recommendations.

I would recommend that the Panama railroad be continued as a commercial line; that its facilities for handling commerce be improved at once; that it be double-tracked and re-equipped with modern rolling stock; that its port facilities be enlarged by the construction of additional wharves, and that modern facilities for handling cargo be provided.

That a schedule of rates for through business be provided, fixing the charges at the minimum which the public of operating expenses and a fair dividend on the investment of the government will permit. The cost of handling freight with improved facilities and not what it has cost in the past, should be used as the basis in fixing rates.

That the present policy of charging a per cent of the rates on through business, subject to certain minima, be adhered to.

That the steamship line between New York and Colon be retained.

That the contracts with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the South American lines be cancelled, and the ports of Colon and Panama opened to the use of all steamship lines on equal terms.

That if, within a reasonable time, a regular steamship passenger and freight service is not established between Colon and the gulf ports, a line be established by the Panama railroad.

That if the Pacific Mail Steamship Company withdraws its present Panama line, an effort be made to induce some other company to establish a first-class service between the important Pacific coast ports of the United States and Panama, and, in the event that no other company is prepared to furnish the service, that it be provided by the Panama railroad.

That in traffic connections American steamship lines be favored so far as can be done consistently with the treaty obligations of the United States.

TO TEST COOLIES ON PANAMA CANAL

Commission Will Hire Two Thousand Italians, Chinese and Japanese by Contract.

WILL LEARN THEIR VALUE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 10.—In order to test the capacity for work of Italians, Chinese and Japanese and also the contract method of securing and handling laborers, the Panama canal commission has decided to import 2,000 men of each nationality for a 500-day contract, subject to renewal. Proposals for furnishing these laborers soon will be issued.

It is the object of the commission to reduce the amount of this sort of labor as much as possible by the introduction of modern machinery, but it will be necessary to secure several thousand additional workmen. The government will furnish free hospitals and medical attendance, unfurnished quarters, fuel for cooking and water. Under a recent decision of the attorney general laborers will work eight hours a day.

This class of laborers going to the isthmus will not be entitled to enter the United States because of an act of the last congress which made the immigration laws of the United States applicable to persons coming from the canal zone to the United States. All legal questions involved, as well as precautions to be taken to obviate injustice and hardship to laborers hired by contractors, are now under consideration by the legal advisers of the commission.

The canal commission is advised that Miss Margaret Gillick, a stenographer in the employ of the commission at Colon, was taken sick with yellow fever July 2. Miss Gillick went to the isthmus last November from her home at East Orange, N. J.

LAST WEEK OF THE LIGHT OPERA SEASON

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home" was wisely chosen by Manager Carleton for the closing week of the season of summer opera at the Nixon. The revival will leave pleasant memories of a very enjoyable engagement, and the popular members of the company each will have an opportunity of saying goodbye under the most pleasing circumstances. This must have been in the minds of all the principals last night, for it was generally conceded that one of the best performances of Strange and Edwards' jolly opera that has so far been given marked the inaugural of the closing week. Besides this, there were some additions and interpretations that gave fresh zest to the piece. W. P. Carleton sang "In the Shade of the Sheltering Palms" in fine voice and recalled his previous triumphs in "Floradora." W. P. Carleton, revived Molloy's "Rose Marie" and "Maryland, My Maryland," was added to the finale of the first act, and the closing scene was given new vigor and beauty. Miss Gertrude Vaughn's singing of "Katie" remains the vocal glory of an opera full of catchy and pleasing airs. Miss Vaughn has won hosts of friends who foresee for her a brilliant future should she develop fully the sweet soprano voice that she has and cultivate a personality that is winning in the extreme. Will Bray, the composer and singer of southern melodies, repeats his hit as Uncle Tom, and "My Honey's Suckle Gal" remains the most popular number of the opera. Miss Clara Palmer must be again congratulated for making a small part vocally luminous. Her part in the beautiful quintet is a difficult and brilliant piece of work and she sings "Leaving and Loving" with feeling and expression. Miss Darel plays Cordelia with much vivacity of manner. Miss Preville sings Constance well, while Mr. Frances received a cordial welcome and played the only comedy role with quaint humor. Mr. Sullivan sings Geoffry acceptably and the Carletons of course repeat their excellent performances.

The choruses have been reduced somewhat and the stage manager should look more carefully after some of the details, the noon, for instance, in the second act having lost its original shape and consists in shining after daylight. At the matinee on Wednesday the graduating class of the High school will witness the performance and join in the singing of "My Own United States," and on Friday evening the newsboys will do the same thing. Saturday evening will hear "Auld Lang Syne."

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Phelan left at noon yesterday on their wedding trip. They will spend their honeymoon principally in New England and will be away about six weeks, returning to Pittsburgh to be at home after September 1 in their new home in Denniston avenue, Squirrel Hill.

The bride was formerly Miss Florence E. Lanahan, daughter of Mrs. James K. Lanahan of Oakview, Center avenue, near South Negley, Shadyside. The marriage was solemnized at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the Roman Catholic church of the Sacred Heart, in Center avenue, the Rev. Father Francis Keane officiating. The celebration of mass followed the ceremony and afterward the bridal party, with a few intimate friends, drove to Oakview where the wedding breakfast was served. Miss Lanahan was attended only by Miss Ruth A. Welton of Dithridge street, and A. X. Phelan was his brother's best man. The bride wore an exquisite gown of point lace with a large white lace hat. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was gowned in white moussellne with an apple green sash and wore a large picture hat. Her flowers were also lilies of the valley. Frank J. Lanahan gave his sister away. During the service Miss Edith Keating, a friend of the bride, was at the organ playing the wedding march and the music during the mass.

Miss Lanahan has been a great favorite among her friends and since her school days has been much interested in philanthropic work. She was one of the organizers of the Relief club and its president for a couple of years.

Among the Clubs.

Pittsburgh Playgrounds Opened.

Nine summer playgrounds and vacation schools were opened in Pittsburgh yesterday morning. There was much enthusiasm among the officers of the joint committee of Women's clubs in the afternoon reports of the opening of the various playgrounds and schools were received. The enrollment reached 2,900, and is expected to increase each day during the week.

The largest enrollment was expected at the South Side Recreation park, and the children in both the playgrounds and the vacation school there numbered 738, an enormous number to take charge of but it was successfully accomplished. There were 350 children in the playground, the others being enrolled in the school, where classes in sewing, basketry, art and nature work and manual training were organized. In the South Side Recreation park yesterday morning were 60 "little mothers," little girls, 10 to 14 years of age, who could not attend the playground unless they carried the baby along, so provision was made to be done for these "little mothers;" gymnastic apparatus is being installed for their use, to straighten the little bent backs, for these "little mothers" have to take care of a new baby by the time the next older is able to walk. The youngest baby on the grounds yesterday was a little mite 2 months old. Because of the number of children in this playground, where Mrs. Samuel S. Miller is chairman, there will be a gymnasium and manual training classes in the afternoon as well as in the morning.

At the Andrews school 450 children were enrolled, 250 of whom were in the playground and kindergarten. Mrs. Howard Morton is chairman of the committee of women in charge, and yesterday was assisted by Mrs. R. E. Brenneman and Mrs. J. T. Lippincott in addition to the teachers and their assistants. In the Andrews vacation school there are seven departments of work, one of the most interesting and popular being the cooking classes, two of which formed yesterday. Today will be library day at the Andrews school, and it is being looked forward to. There will be two library days each week. At the playgrounds in the Denny park, not far away, there were 100 children. No vacation school is established there.

The Moorhead school is in charge of the Columbian Council of Jewish Women, with Miss Marion Schonfeld, chairman. Yesterday the enrollment was about 300, 100 children being in the playground and 200 in the vacation school.

At the O'Hara school Mrs. George Hubbard, Mrs. James C. Dick and Mrs. William Macrum were the committee from the Travelers' club in waiting for the children when they arrived at the school. The attendance reached 384, of whom 200 were in the playground and 184 in the vacation school.

At the Ralston school 300 children presented themselves for enrollment. At this school there is no basketry, but cooking classes were formed, which promise to be very popular. The Wimodausis club, Mrs. C. D. Collins, chairman, is in charge. The attendance at the South school, Diamond and Ross streets, reached 200. The Woman's club, with Miss Eva May Gamble, chairman, is in charge.

The Twentieth Century club, Mrs. David Kirk, chairman, selected the Wickersham school this year, and yesterday Mrs. Kirk, Mrs. Eleanor Stewart, Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon and Miss McCreery were in attendance. The enrollment was 198, and all the children are in the kindergarten and vacation school, as there is no playground at this school.

The Riverside school, always one of the smallest schools, because it is located right in the midst of mills, with few people living in the neighborhood, yesterday reported an increased attendance over that for last year.

Washington park made a good showing with 350 children, 200 of whom were in the playground. This park is located right in the heart of the hill district, which is becoming famous through the investigation of sweatshops and tenements which constitute a part of its claim to notoriety. It has been decided to have both morning and afternoon sessions of this vacation school, from 9 o'clock until 12 and from 1:30 until 5. The gymnasium for the girls is not quite finished, but will be completed in a couple of days, and the shower baths will be ready for use. The boys hugely enjoyed the out-door apparatus which has been installed for their use. Many of the little girls asked permission to bring to the school garments of their own to make, which was gladly given by the teachers, while the darning of stockings will be one of the specialties taught, making the sewing classes at the Washington park very practical. Mrs. Matt Patterson, chairman of the park, was there, together with her committee, composed of Mrs. William McKinnie, Mrs. Zant Miller and Mrs. Simeon Huss.

One hundred children were reported from the new playground on the Schoenberger property on Butler and Forty-seventh streets, Lawrenceville. The park contains a recreation building, swings and a sand pile.

Midsummer Dance at Luna Park.

The Keystone Bicycle club gave their midsummer dance at Luna Park last night, 300 couples being present. The dance was quite the largest yet held by this organization. The immense dancing pavilion, notwithstanding the great number of couples, was not at any time over-crowded. The arrangements were in the hands of Woodward Awl, chairman; J. H. Blackburn, Harry Estep, Charles Walters, John A. McKenna, T. M. McKenna and Allen W. Jones.

Doings at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, July 10.—(Special.)—A bloodless battle between the city and owners of pet dogs ended in a victory for the city today and pampered canines will no longer be allowed to indulge in surf baths along with their masters or mistresses. No matter how high the pedigree of doggie he must take his bath in the waters back of the city, and not invade the bathing beach to annoy the bathers who had made complaints of having been knocked down by racing dogs in pursuit of sticks or following their owners or grooms out into the breakers.

A pretty and shapely girl who appeared on the beach today attired in a bathing suit modeled exactly after the blue suit of a naval officer attracted her full meed of attention.

A delegation of city officials, hotel men and members of Atlantic City lodge of Elks have gone to Buffalo to push the claims of Atlantic City as a meeting place for the supreme body of the order next year. Malta-Vita

"The Perfect Food"

Same Big Package
Same High Quality

Now 10 cts.

Malta-Vita "The Perfect Food," malt life, as its name implies, stands for that intense vitality that results from the daily use of a food skilfully prepared from the whole of the wheat, of which, after being cooked, each kernel has been subjected to the searching digestive action of the diastase and other enzymes of barley malt. This makes it a "predigested" food of highest nourishment value, which explains the remarkable results obtained in cases of nervous debility, deranged stomachs and constipation. Besides, it is the best food to eat.

"We have used several boxes of Malta-Vita and think it the finest food we have tried yet. Having used different kinds, we find Malta-Vita has a flavor which excels all others. We had almost despaired to find something our baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been a constant sufferer from constipation and a general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malta-Vita he has improved wonderfully in health and is entirely cured of constipation. In fact, myself and husband receive a great benefit since using the food, as we have suffered from general debility. We find it gives life and tone to the entire system." Name given on request by Malta-Vita Pure Food Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

MALTA-VITA is a food with a "taste." It does not belong to the tasteless variety of "flaked foods" and too great credit cannot be claimed for Malta-Vita on account of the fact that it contains its own sweetening agent—maltose always being present in a proportion exceeding eight per cent and sometimes ten per cent. This is a healthy, digestible sugar, formed by the action of the malt diastase upon starch and it causes the stomach no inconvenience. This is not the case with flaked foods that are sweetened by cane sugar, beet sugar, maple sugar, boiled cider, glucose or grape sugar, as all these cause acidity in the stomach and are seriously injurious.

STRENGTH OF STEEL STOCKS THE WALL STREET FEATURE

Prominent Railroad Issues Declined on Profit-Taking—Tone of the Local Stock Market Was a Little Firmer.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The strength of the industrials, with the United States issues in the lead, was the feature of the New York stock market yesterday. Profit-taking in some of the prominent railroads which have scored large advances caused a reaction in this department and prices closed lower. The volume of trading was well maintained.

At the opening London prices were slightly higher and foreigners were moderate buyers. At the higher prices traders sold Union Pacific and Reading, and a sharp reaction occurred during the first hour. The explanation for the selling, it was gravely stated, was that two prominent speculators were going to start on a flaning expedition today and that they were "reducing their load" before starting. Reading dropped 3 per cent to 161½, and Union Pacific declined from 126 to 125¾. Both stocks rallied in the later dealings, but closed at net losses for the day.

The Pennsylvania group seemed to feel the lack of buoyancy in Reading and declined, Pennsylvania closing ¾ lower and Baltimore ¾ lower. Baltimore & Ohio directors are scheduled to meet tomorrow to take action on the dividend. If the rate is increased to a 5 per cent basis, a further advance is probable. If it is allowed to remain on a 4 per cent basis, it will prove a great disappointment to the bulls and may check the advancing market, for almost the sole argument for the recent rise has been prospective dividend increases.

Of the granger roads, Atchison held better than the others and closed at a slight net gain. St. Paul closed lower. The heaviness of this group was based upon predictions that the government crop report, which was delayed until this afternoon, would prove unfavorable to spring wheat. The latter market was firmer, rising to 85¾ for the September option in Chicago, and closing at 87½. Private advices from the northwest stated that the weather was unfavorable and fears of rust were expressed.

Southern Railway closed ¼ per cent lower and Louisville & Nashville unchanged. The cotton market was very active and excited, the January option advancing nearly a half cent a pound to the highest yet quoted. The cotton trade is very much disturbed over the recent revelations in the department of agriculture concerning the ginning of cotton crop reports, and southern operators are reiterating their estimates of the shortage in the acreage, which with the low average condition foreshadows a crop not greater than 10,500,000 bales, and possibly a crop of 10,000,000 bales. However, the stock market has not yet given any sign that a serious shortage is feared.

The strength of the industrials, particularly the Steel stocks, in a measure offset the reactionary tendency of the railroad list. United States Steel common rose to 35⅛, the highest on this movement, and closed with a net gain of ⅝ per cent. The preferred closed ¾ higher. The buying of the common was by prominent commission houses who took the stock in large blocks. Tennessee Coal & Iron was strong in the early dealings, but subsequently lost all the gain and closed 1⅞ per cent lower. American Locomotive advanced to and closed at 50, a gain of 1¼ per cent. Other railroad equipment stocks were strong and higher. Amalgamated Copper crossed 84 and closed at a net advance of ⅝ per cent. Wall street had a story that the principal producers had pooled their issues, and that higher prices were in prospect.

Call loan rates remained easy at 2½ to 2¾ per cent. No engagements of gold were announced, but it is known that banking circles are preparing for considerable shipments this month, and in the present state of bank reserves higher money rates are not improbable.

The principal activity in the local market was in the steel stocks, which were strong and higher. Crucible common led in point of activity and advanced to 11, closing at the top. The preferred rallied to 64, but closed unchanged at 63¾. United States Steel common closed a point higher at 35. The preferred was extremely dull but firm. Pittsburgh Coal preferred sold down to 52½, but recovered to 52¾ at the close. The common was dull and unchanged at 14¾. It is understood that it will be impossible to obtain a quorum of the board of directors today, and dividend action on the preferred may be postponed for a week. National Fire Proofing preferred was firmer, selling at 32¾. American Sewer Pipe also rallied a fraction to 34½, closing at 34. Brewing stocks were dull but steady. Westinghouse Electric sold unchanged at 83¾. Pittsburgh Plate Glass advanced ½ per cent to 118½. There was no change of note in the remainder of the list.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

There was a shifting of bull speculation in Wall street yesterday from the railroads to the industrials, but whether it was for the purpose of making the market look broad enough to sustain profit-taking in the railroad list, or whether it foreshadows higher prices for industrials was a disputed question among traders. One of the prominent market leaders gave his Pittsburgh correspondent the benefit of the following opinion after the close yesterday: "The switching from the railroads into the industrial stocks by one of the largest speculative cliques in the country, which began on Saturday, was continued today on a much larger scale, and was very confusing at first. It seems that Mr. Gates, Mr. Reid and Mr. Schwab with others are off for a fishing trip in Canada tomorrow, and to these gentlemen and their affiliated interests was attributed the heavy selling of Union Pacific, Reading, Erie and Baltimore & Ohio. It is estimated that Saturday and today they must have sold between 70,000 and 100,000 shares of railroads and bought an almost equal amount of Steel preferred and common, particularly the common. One hears the most extravagant reports about the earnings of Steel the next six months. While the earnings the last quarter are generally put down to be $30,000,000, it is stated the coming quarter will be $5,000,000 better, and $15,000,000 at least is talked of for the year, with every promise of a greater year in 1906. One thing is certain, that those most closely identified with the Steel interests are the ones who are buying the stock, and thereby backing their opinion. There is much speculation regarding the Union Pacific dividend. One story is out that they will not pay more than 2 per cent, and another is told that they will meet tomorrow and pay 2½ per cent. I believe that they will pay 2½ per cent some time this week. The market took the switching of stocks extremely well, and I believe we will have a higher market tomorrow."

The Fort Pitt National bank occupied its new quarters at 220 Fourth avenue yesterday and entertained a host of visitors, who inspected one of the handsomest banking rooms in the state.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass yesterday sold at 118½, an advance of ½ per cent over the last previous sale. The current market, however, is only a fraction above the lowest of the year, although there has been a decided improvement in the condition of the glass trade as a whole within the past three months. American Window Glass Machine common stock is reported to have changed hands at private sale at 7.

Crucible Steel directors are scheduled to meet today, but the question of resuming dividends will not come up. The business of the company, however, is reported to be very good, and a resumption of dividends next January is now among the probabilities.

Owing to the absence of a quorum of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company the meeting to take action on the preferred dividend has been postponed until July 18.

The Union Steel Casting Company, at Sixty-first and Butler streets, of which C. C. Smith is president and S. H. Church vice president, paid its usual quarterly dividend of 2 per cent yesterday.

One large New York commission house was a buyer of 10,000 shares U. S. Steel common yesterday. The latter was relatively firmer than the preferred.

United Copper advanced to 25 bid on the local board, after selling at 24⅝.

The Buffalo-German and Buffalo Commercial Insurance Companies have notified the Buffalo Fire Underwriters' association that they will not collect the advance in rates ordered, and that they will not pay any penalty for their failure to do so. The advance does not apply to renewals until August 1.

The advance in Amalgamated Copper was stimulated by a story that a pool had been formed by the leading producing companies to regulate output and control prices.

It was broadly asserted in Wall street yesterday that information had been received that it had been determined to maintain the present dividend rate on Union Pacific for the next period instead of increasing it, and a section of the recent enthusiasts on that stock allowed it to be understood that they were selling out their holdings and transferring their interest to portions of the industrial list. There is no one factor on which the present speculation counts so greatly as on increases in dividend rates on a number of the stocks which have been made active. Yesterday's assertion, therefore, struck a sensitive point. The retention last Saturday of the recent dividend rate on Canfral Railroad of New Jersey also disappointed some of the recent professed hope of those dealing in Reading.

Indianapolis dispatch: "Judge Alford declares that the new private bank law is constitutional. In a ruling he holds that the contention of the private bankers of Indiana, through Seth M. Richcreek, the Indianapolis private banker, cannot stand, and that the law as it now appears on the statute books is valid and binding. The association of bankers is preparing to take the case to the state supreme court and to the United States supreme court for a thorough test. The litigation will be watched by financial interests the country over. Judge Alford rules that the private banker may be required by the state to give to the auditor of the state a schedule of his property, in order that capitalization of his bank may not exceed one-half that property showing. He says further that the private banker may be required by law to furnish periodical statements of the condition of his bank to the auditor of the state, and that he must comply with the law or suffer the penalty."

The London market was unsettled by fears of trouble in the coming Kaffir settlement. Discounts hardened there under this influence and the coming offering of the Japanese loan. Gold also rose in that market on the Paris demand, which continued in spite of the announcement of the definite re-establishment of an entente with Germany. Exchange in New York was inclined to sag, and no more gold was taken for export. There was quite an active demand for time loans carrying over the end of the year.

Of the £30,000,000 of the imperial Japanese government 4½ per cent sterling second series, £10,000,000 have been taken by Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of New York, and are offered to investors in the United States by that banking house in conjunction with the National City Bank of New York and the National Bank of Commerce in New York. These bonds are similar to the previous issue of £30,000,000, and are secured, both as to principal and interest, by a charge upon the annual net revenues of the Japanese government tobacco monopoly, subject only to the charge in favor of the prior loan of £30,000,000. The Japanese government has the exclusive right to control the cultivation and production of the leaf, and to purchase, import, manufacture and to sell tobacco, thus possessing the entire monopoly of the tobacco trade within the limits of the Japanese empire. The estimated net revenue for the fiscal year 1905-06 from this source is equal to $3,567,736, which is more than 3 per cent upon the two series of bonds. The semi-annual interest on the bonds is payable January 16 and July 16 each year in London, New York and Berlin at the fixed exchange of $4 87 per pound sterling in New York. The offering price is 87½ per cent and accrued interest, New York stock exchange usage, which is the approximate parity of the London issue price. The subscription list will be opened at 10 a. m. July 12, and will be closed on or before July 17. Subscriptions should be made on forms obtained from the bankers and their correspondents, and must be accompanied by a deposit of $25 in New York funds for each £100 of bonds subscribed for. A second payment of $25 per £100 of bonds will be payable August 3, and the remaining $37 87 per bond of £100 on October 16. Payments may be made in full on August 3 under discount at the rate of 3 per cent per annum. Temporary certificates will be issued, exchangeable for the bonds as soon as the definite security can be prepared. Subscriptions will be received in Philadelphia by the Fidelity Trust Company, the Girard Trust Company and Messrs. Sailor & Stevenson.

STOCK MARKET WILTS UNDER TORRID WEATHER

NEW YORK, July 11.—The Herald this (Tuesday) morning says:

Stocks wilted yesterday. In fact, there were many persons who attributed the diminished activity and the heavy tendency of the market to nothing more influential than the torrid weather. This would be ridiculous under ordinary circumstances, but in view of the notoriously professional character of the trading at the present time it is quite reasonable to infer that heat might have taken some of the energy out of the pool and clique operators and thus affected somewhat both the volume of business and prices. Were more of the business of a genuine nature, however, there would have been brokers found to brave the horrors of an inferno to transact it. As it was, dealings were chiefly confined to a limited group of issues, clearly enough indicating pool and clique operations. The tendency of the market showed either that some distribution was in progress or that the manipulators were beginning to get a little stock on advances.

There was not much in the news of the day having an important bearing upon the general position. The traffic movement, reported at Chicago was not as satisfactory as recently, showing decreases which were attributed to unsatisfactory weather, delaying crops and the like. The weather and crop advices were generally unfavorable elsewhere. The wild speculative movement in cotton continues, and in view of the great uncertainty surrounding the cotton crop, due to the disclosures of "doctored" reports and the like, the movement in cotton was not liked in banking circles.

United States Steel was the feature of the day in point of activity. The street was again filled with bullish points on the issues, and all the large speculative houses and the large professionals were active in the movement. There was nothing of a novel character in the gossip bearing upon the Steel issues. Repeated reference was made to the large earnings expected for the June quarter and to the improving condition of the trade in finished products, which has not as yet manifested itself in the price of pig iron or steel billets.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, July 10.—Supplies of money were scarcer in the market today owing to continued repayments to the Bank of England and the requirements of the next few days for stock exchange transactions, the new Japanese loan and several calls on recent issues of bonds. Trading on the stock exchange opened with prices fairly steady, the market inactive and the tendency uncertain. Mining accounts absorbed attention and consols were a fraction higher. Americans opened firm. The movements mostly were above parity, but business was light and prices closed irregular. Russians were dull. Japanese were fairly steady. Kaffirs rallied. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 103. Consols for money, 90 11-16; consols for account, 90 3-16. Bar silver firm at 27 3-16d per ounce. Money, 1¾@2½ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 1¾@1 13-16 per cent; three-months bills, 1 12-16@1¾ per cent.

PARIS, July 10.—Prices on the bourse today were firm on the Franco-German settlement of the Moroccan dispute. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 86.50 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 408.00. Three per cent rentes, 99 francs 30 centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 14 centimes for checks.

LOCAL MARKETS SHOW GREAT TRADE INCREASE

All Lines Have Improved and the Season Promises to Equal Any Previous One.

Although there was a general belief that flour would break down yesterday, it was not borne out by quotations. There is heavy shading going on, however, ranging from 5 to 10 cents, and a reduction is looked for at any moment, providing the wheat market continues its course. The slight stiffening yesterday in September wheat made the flour market look a little stronger.

Sugar continues in the same condition it has been in for several days. Sales are not heavy, as dealers are fearful of buying ahead. The fact that it is cheaper now than it has been for a year has been sufficient inducement to get a number of them into the market, as they do not believe there will be any lasting cuts at this season.

Trade in the grocery lines yesterday was heavier than it has been any Monday for months. In fact, trade has been improving at a remarkable rate for the past month, despite the usual summer dull season. In green goods, fruit and vegetables there has been an enormous increase in the sales, and Liberty street dealers pronounce this one of the best seasons they have ever enjoyed, despite the dull outlook of the early spring.

There was no change in the butter market, and the sales of that commodity and cheese have improved along with the general run of business. Eggs are still holding on at the 18-cent figure for best stock.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 17 cars, 4 corn, 7 hay, 2 straw, 2 feed; Baltimore & Ohio, 2 oats, 1 hay, 1 straw; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 oats, 2 hay, 1 straw.

Grain was rapidly picked up yesterday and the market shows improvement all around. Hay is in light receipt and prices have again been advanced.

WIFE HAS HUSBAND AND WOMAN SENT TO JAIL

William M. Smith and Clara Gildner were committed to jail yesterday by Magistrate Moke on warrants sworn out by Mrs. Cora B. Smith. Smith and Miss Gildner were arrested in Wylie avenue some days ago by Policeman Samuel Shrolovitz, the former for disorderly conduct and the latter for street walking. At the hearing they testified they were man and wife, and also preferred charges against Shrolovitz, but at the hearing the trial board refused to sustain the charges. Mrs. Smith made the information on Saturday, and yesterday morning showed her marriage certificate and two children. The Smiths live in Turtle Creek and the Gildner woman in Clark street.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices. The cable contained little feature aside from the firmness of primary markets, and the trading here was very light. MARKET WHIP-SAWS AND CLOSES WEAK

CHICAGO, July 10.—Increased primary receipts of wheat southwest today almost counteracted the effect of crop damage reports from the northwest. The market, after a whip-saw action, closed weak, although showing a net gain of ¾@⅞c for September as compared with the final figures of Saturday. Corn is off 1¼@1¾c. Oats are down ⅛c. Provisions show a loss of 7½ to 15c.

The wheat market was rather weak at the start, initial quotations on September being unchanged to ⅛c lower, at 86½ to 86¾c. The weakness was due largely to clear weather, both northwest and southwest. Sentiment soon became bullish, however, on numerous damage reports from the northwest. One report from Minneapolis stated that many advices from Minnesota and South Dakota had been received, telling of damage by rod rust. Commission houses became active buyers, and as a result prices advanced rapidly. In September the highest point of the day was reached at 88¼c. During the last half of the session sentiment again changed to bearishness. Under liberal profit-taking most of the gain was lost. The selling was brought out mainly by increased primary receipts, especially in the southwest, resulting in a severe break in the price of cash wheat at Kansas City. Another weakening influence was the bearish tone of the Michigan crop report. An easy tone prevailed at the close, with final quotations on September at 87½@87¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 45,000 bushels. The amount on passage decreased 1,400,000 bushels and the visible supply decreased 831,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 360,000 bushels, compared with 327,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 222 cars, against 239 cars a year ago, with a holiday last week.

Extreme weakness was manifested in the corn market. The feature of trading was active selling by several prominent bulls. A decline of 1¼@1⅝c in the price of cash corn was one of the chief depressing influences. The market closed decidedly weak, with prices at the lowest point of the day. September opened a shade to 1¼@1⅝c lower, at 58@58¼c, sold up to 60⅝c, and then declined to 58c, closing at the bottom. Local receipts were 533 cars, with 189 of contract grade.

Crop damage resulting from excessive moisture caused a firm tone in the oats market during the first half hour of the session. Owing to a scarcity of oats in Canada a considerable improvement in shipping demand was noted. Late in the day the market weakened in sympathy with the break in corn. September opened ¼@⅜c higher, at 31½@31⅝c, sold up to 31¾@31⅞c, and then declined to 31⅛c, where it closed. Local receipts were 196 cars.

Provisions were firm early on moderate covering by shorts. Later the market weakened on selling of lard and ribs by packers. At the close September pork was off 15c, at $12 85. Lard was down 7½c, at $7 22½. Ribs were off 7½@10c, at $7 80@7 85.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Calumet & Pittsburgh, which has borne the water problem for the group and the Bisbee camp, has a debt of about $350,000, incurred in pumping and machinery. It has 50,000 $10 shares in its treasury and these are to be issued, payment to be $5 August 1 and $5 in November. This will cover the debt, pay for the sinking and equipment of the Hostetter shaft to the completion of the 1,000-foot level and drift into ore. There should be a surplus after all these operations are completed. Stockholders of record July 20 will be entitled to subscribe to one share for each four now held.

It is expected that ore will be coming out of this mine very soon, through drifts to be run at once from the Junction shaft. This shaft is directly on the line between the two mines and one that has been cut at depths is pitching into Calumet & Pittsburgh ground. But there is no hurry as to this, nor as to increasing production of the group, for there is not smelter capacity enough for very much increase. It seems that the smelter increase at the Calumet & Arizona has been entirely too slow for the underground developments of the group. The Irish Mag shaft is supplying ore for two furnaces, the Lake Superior and Pittsburgh & Duluth are ready to produce, the two from one shaft, and there is but one furnace for them both; the Oliver shaft can produce ore enough for two furnaces and there is no smelter for it; and soon Calumet & Pittsburgh and Junction can be producing in a small way, but there are no furnaces now in any arrangement looking to construction. The smelter capacity is limited to two furnaces in operation, two more nearly ready and a foundation in for a fifth, but it is proposed to maintain one in reserve constantly.

According to the best data obtainable the output of copper from the Utah smelters for the month of June was 5,900,000 pounds. The first six months of the year gives a record of 30,000,000 pounds. It is estimated conservatively that the total for the year will reach fully 70,000,000 pounds. The output next year easily should pass 100,000,000 pounds, for the Boston Consolidated, the Utah Copper, the Utah Consolidated, the United States, and the Yampa will increase their output from Bingham, while the Bingham Consolidated, the Bingham & New Haven, the Ohio Copper and the New Red Wing, also will add much to the production.

The plans for the Utah copper mill to be erected near the shores of Great Salt Lake are nearly completed. The ground will be broken soon. Two units of 1250 tons daily capacity each will be built first. It has not been settled yet what plans will be made for transporting the ore from the mine to the mill. The output from the Bingham camp is now handled by the Rio Grande Western railroad. This company may build a line to the new mill. As the plant is to be erected near the main line of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake railroad, the Salt Lake route may build so as to get into the great copper camp.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, July 10.—There was a strong advance in the London tin market, with spot closing at £140 5s and futures at £140 2s 6d. The local market, while quiet, was strong in sympathy with spot, quoted at 33.15@33.40. Copper also was higher in the London market, closing at £96 2s 6d for spot and £88 5s for futures. The local market is showing a somewhat steadier tone, owing to recent large sales in China, and some dealers are ruling higher prices. So far, however, there seems to be no basis for any change in the figures recently posted, and lake and electrolytic stand at $16 30 and casting at $14 75. Lead was unchanged at £12 15s in London and at $4 60@4 80 in the New York market. Spelter was unchanged at £25 2s 6d in London, but ruled firmer at $5.45@5.40 locally. Iron closed at 42s 4d in Glasgow and at 48s 6d in Middlesboro. Locally, iron was unchanged. No. 1 foundry is quoted at $16 75@17 50; No. 2 foundry northern, $15 50@16 00; No. 1 foundry southern, $15 75@16 75; No. 1 foundry southern soft, $15 25@16 00; No. 2 foundry southern, $14 75@15 25.

STARTLES CLERGYMEN.

Hugh O'Donnell Tells of Horrible Conditions Which He Found in the Two Cities.

Hugh O'Donnell, deputy state factory inspector, addressed the Pittsburgh Ministerial union in the Central Young Men's Christian association building yesterday morning on conditions found by him in the lower sections of the two cities during his inspections.

"There are 500 men in the Second district of the Seventh ward," he said, "that are fattening on money wrung from the sins of women and who are supported by speakeasies, gambling houses and disorderly houses, and by women who trap victims into dens." He announced that there were 800 sweatshops in Allegheny county, of which 187 were in the Hill district. He declared that there was one sweatshop in Woods Run, Allegheny, that employed 300 children between the ages of 9 and 15, and contended that the horrible conditions which existed were in a great measure due to the influex of foreigners.

WABASH PLANS ALLEGHENY LINE

Original Proposition Is Abandoned—Shippers Will Attack Central Association.

BUSY LINE IN COKE REGION

Plans of a new proposition of the Wabash interests for entering Allegheny are now being formulated by the officials here. The old plan of entering by way of a bridge across the Allegheny river from the right of way near Fourth street and Duquesne way has been abandoned and no information will be given to the public regarding the new proposition until it is presented to and reported on by Maj. W. L. Sibert, United States engineer.

For some time there has been a party of engineers at work on the Allegheny property bounded by Rebecca street, School street and South avenue, including, it is said, the Phipps playground. It was reported that these engineers were working in the interest of the Wabash. This was denied by Vice President B. A. Worthington last evening.

"I know nothing of work in Allegheny for any interests," said Mr. Worthington, "and I know that there is no work being done there for the Wabash interests. We have entirely abandoned the original plan for entering that city by way of the bridge at first proposed. Chief Engineer George T. Barnesley is now working on a plan which will be presented to Maj. Sibert. I am unable to give any information regarding the proposed method of entrance now. No information regarding this will be made public until Maj. Sibert has approved the plan. But we will enter Allegheny, that is certain."

Busy Line of Klondike Region.

Increasing its operating line from 20 to 117 miles in 18 months is the record of the Monongahela railroad, the joint Pennsylvania Railroad Company and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company property. The road handles an average of about 20,000 cars each month, half of which are delivered to the Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie loaded with coal and coke. The highest record for one day is 956 cars. There are 15 freight trains operated each way over the "circuit," as the route of the Monongahela railroad proper out of Brownsville to the south and the Masontown & New Salem and Connellsville Central roads, operated by the Monongahela railroad, into Brownsville from the east, is known.

This shows a growth little expected by the general public and also somewhat surprising to the railroad officers. There are now about 5,063 coke ovens of the "Klondike region" reached by the Monongahela railroad. On June 1 the opening of the Connellsville Central, an independent corporation, was given to the Monongahela. The route of the Monongahela railroad follows the easterly bank of the Monongahela river from Brownsville 27 miles up to Marth. At Huron, 21.5 miles from Brownsville, the road turns inland, back through the hills to Moser Run Junction, where connection is made with the Masontown & New Salem road to New Salem. The Connellsville Central continues the circuitous route through the rich coal and coke region a distance of 19 miles from New Salem to Connellsville. Each of the roads has several spurs running from one to three miles back into the hills to reach mines and coke ovens. The whole system is now known as the Monongahela railroad. Its operating head is Superintendent John Erskine, who is well known in Pittsburgh railroad circles from his long and efficient service here. He says that the traffic is continuing exceptionally heavy for this season of the year.

Know Nothing of Cut-off.

Pennsylvania officials in Pittsburgh know nothing of a proposed cut-off from Homestead to the main line of the Pennsylvania in the East End. It was reported last week that such a proposition was under way, but one of the officials spoken to said that it was merely a renewal of the reported project of about two years ago, which was the suggestion of a Pittsburgh city official and not of the railroad. P. H. Peters, engineer of construction, said that if surveys were being made they would be under his care, and that there had been no thought of such a cut-off. George W. Snyder, assistant engineer of the Pittsburgh division, said that he never heard of such a proposition. An operating official said that such a suggestion had been made a couple of years ago by a city official, but that it would be impossible, because of the heavy grade up from Homestead to the East End, either by tunnel or by circuitous route up into hollow from Brown's Station, opposite Homestead. The Dilworth-Thompson line was built from the Monongahela division to care for the eastbound traffic a couple of years ago, and last fall the west leg of the connection with the main line was constructed. This gives an outlet directly from the steel works to the Brilliant cut-off. It is possible that another track or two may be added by the Pennsylvania for its main line from the Brilliant branch connection to East Pittsburgh. This is the busiest portion of the Pennsylvania system in the Pittsburgh district.

Chalenor Visiting Pittsburgh.

L. E. Chalenor, assistant general freight agent of the Seaboard Air Line railway at Savannah, is spending a few days here in the interest of his company. Mr. Chalenor is well known among the Pittsburgh district traffic men, having formerly been general freight agent of the Ohio River railroad, and, after that road was secured by the Baltimore & Ohio, division freight agent of the Ohio River railroad. The freight traffic interests of the Seaboard Air Line road are cared for here by John A. Murdock, commercial agent of the Seaboard Despatch. For several weeks Mr. Murdock has been obliged to relinquish his duties on account of ill health. He is reported improving and is expected here within a month, although his condition may not allow his return that soon.

Railroad Notes.

The St. Louis general passenger agents whipped the Chicago Transportation league in the Saturday baseball game by a score of 3 to 2. About 300 of the leading railroad men of Chicago, St. Louis and the middle west enjoyed the day's outing at North Evanston.

L. C. Bigelman, conductor on the Wabash, left for California last night to look after business interests and to visit friends.

John F. Lent has been appointed traffic manager for the Pittsburgh Foundry Company and the Independent Brewing Company.

Among the out-of-town railroad men in town yesterday were N. P. Ramsey, superintendent of mails of the Wabash; Col. W. W. Dunnwant, traveling passenger agent of the Queen & Crescent route, and G. W. Teare, commercial agent of the Nock Island-Frisco system at Cleveland.

George G. Herring, general agent of the Harriman interests in Pittsburgh, is enjoying a vacation of two weeks at Ocean Grove.
